WESTERN BLOC SAID TO FOSTER RUSSIAN SPLIT

Former AMG Official Tells Of "Squeeze" In Hunt For Nazi Assets

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—Elements within the American, British and French governments were accused today of deliberately fostering big four disunity in an apparent effort to create a three-power western bloc against Russia.

Russell A. Nixon, former official of the American military government in Germany, told a senate subcommittee that this trend was evident in the fact that the United States, Britain and France had squeezed Russia out of the allied hunt for German assets in neutral countries.

Fascists Protected
If Russia were allowed to join in, Nixon said, it would "lay bare the fascist or reactionary regimes in countries such as Spain, Portugal, Switzerland, Sweden and Argentina and would reveal all the elements of collaboration of certain interests in the allied countries with these regimes."

"This unwarranted and diligent effort to disunify the four powers," he said, "leads to a profound suspicion that it is being sought by at least some forces in the U. S. state department and in the British and French foreign offices who are sympathetic to the creation of a western bloc versus the east."

Nixon formerly was acting director of the division of investigation of cartels and external assets in the U. S. military government in Germany. He testified before a senate military affairs subcommittee headed by Sen. Harley M. Kilgore, D., W. Va.

Farben Trust Grows Anew
He also told the subcommittee that:

1. The I. G. Farben chemical trust—"Germany's greatest single instrument of economic aggression"—is being permitted to reorganize on a pattern devised by Farben officials themselves in 1944, when they anticipated a German military defeat.

2. British opposition has prevented a destruction of the German cartel system.

3. The denazification program in the American zone of occupation has failed because "we do not have a staff in Germany which, from top to bottom, possesses the will and understanding to carry out denazification."

Nixon said that under an Anglo-American backed plan, Russia was having the dominant voice in getting German-owned valuables from Bulgaria, Hungary, Romania, Finland and eastern Austria. Other overseas assets of the Nazis are being handled by the U. S., Britain and France, Nixon said, although Russia has never acquiesced in such a program.

Trading Use Stressed
Besides trying to avoid creating of "too radical" regimes in the future, Nixon said, "there is serious indication that it is the intention of at least some involved in this question to trade with the neutral countries on the question of Germany's assets in return for concessions of one sort or another."

Nixon pointed out that Switzerland, Sweden and Spain had balked occasionally at handing German assets over to the allies. He said the best way to get them was "an economic loaded gun"—eco-

Exonerated

THE court-martial sentence of Capt. Charles B. McVay, III, skipper of the cruiser Indianapolis which was sunk in the Pacific with a loss of 880 men, has been remitted in its entirety and the officer has been restored to duty. Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz in announcing the exoneration revealed that four officers on duty in the Philippines at the time the cruiser went down have been given letters of reprimand for failing to institute immediate search for ship.

BABY IS KILLED BY BOY 'SITTER'

Scout, 14, Admits Strangling Tot In Effort To Halt Crying Of Girl, 3

NEW YORK, Feb. 25—A 14-year-old Boy Scout, who often minded a neighbor's baby as his good deed for the day, was held on a homicide charge today for strangling the tot to stop its crying.

The youth, Jack Turk, an honor student at Forest Hills high school, will be arraigned in Queens felony court today. He was picked up by Whippany, N. J., as a runaway suspect shortly before the body of his victim, three-year-old Sybil Gurfine, was discovered early yesterday by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gurfine.

Mouth Stuffed With Gauze
The body of the child, its mouth stuffed with gauze and sealed with adhesive tape, was found on the bathroom floor in the Gurfine apartment. A cord from a window shade was tied around its neck.

Nearby lay a newspaper opened to a headline which read: "Enraged, He Strangles His Wife As Daughter, Ten, Looks On."

The boy had been left with the baby at eight o'clock Saturday night.

About 11 p. m. the child awoke and started crying, the youth said. Turk picked her up out of her crib and took her into the living room where he tried to quiet her.

Failing to silence her, Turk said he took her into the bathroom and stuffed a roll of gauze in her mouth. Then he sealed her mouth with adhesive tape and tied a piece

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—The palatial embassy which Japan maintained in Washington before the war will come into full-time use again Tuesday—by one of the bodies that today rule Japan.

The Allied Far Eastern Commission policy-initiating body for the occupation of Japan, will hold in the embassy its first meeting since Russia became a member.

BLUM TO SEEK 2-1/2 BILLIONS IN U. S. CREDITS

Dean Of French Socialists Will Pledge Financial House-Cleaning

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—Leon Blum, former premier and dean of French Socialists, is due by air from Paris Wednesday with an "elastic bid" for up to $2,500,000,000 (B) of credits from the United States.

In exchange he will bring a formal pledge by President Felix Gouin that France will put her financial house in order by vigorous anti-inflationist legislation.

Two Classes of Needs

The French bid will be divided into two parts: immediate needs for food and raw materials; and reconversion needs for such things as machinery, tools, building material, structural steel. For the first, France will ask a round billion dollars in credits to be spent within a year or so. For the latter, over a reconstruction period of two or three years, France would like an additional credit of $1,500,000,000.

Blum will be charged, chiefly, with convincing the U. S. government of France's real needs and of her determination to make these credits a sound investment by severe economies in government which will pinch every Frenchman.

There will be plenty of hardships in France for five to ten years to come, to pay for the cost of rebuilding the war's destruction. Blum will try to prove that France needs outside help to rebuild what the American and British armies, as well as the Germans, destroyed in the long drive across France from the Normandy beachheads to the Rhine.

AUTO SCARCITY UNTIL '48, SAYS HENRY FORD 2ND

CHICAGO, Feb. 25—The time when anyone can walk into a dealer's showroom and buy an automobile off the floor is "at least a year and a half away," Henry Ford II, president of the Ford Motor Co., said last night.

Ford, en route to Detroit from California, said Ford plants would be back in production within 30 days, but added that it was "impossible to estimate how long it will be before they are in full production."

Arrival of glass and metal parts and the "productivity of labor," he said, would figure largely in determining the answer to the question.

JAPS POSTPONE ELECTIONS
TOKYO, Feb. 25—The Japanese government today postponed the general elections from March 31 to April 10 in a move to insure that candidates for the house of representatives will be eligible under Gen. Douglas MacArthur's recent "purge" directive.

The long mahogany table in what was formerly the state dining room is now the working table around which the commission members will sit. This room is distinguished by mahogany doors, cut-glass chandeliers, and blue drapes on windows that extend almost from floor to ceiling.

Two rooms of the embassy have been set aside for storage of bedroom furniture and other items of no use to the commission. There will be no living quarters for anyone in the embassy, but the commission's secretariat has been provided with office space, and certain delegations will also be given office room there. France and China have already requested space.

Kentucky Gang Slaying Recalls $9,000 Robbery Of Kinsey Men's Store

Gangland slaying of Clayton "Rip" Farley, 29, at Newport, Ky., brought vivid recollections, Monday, of the $9,000 burglary of Kinsey's Men's Shop, 125 North Court street, three years ago.

"Rip" Farley was the leader of a band of yeggs who forced entrance to the Kinsey establishment in Circleville at 1:30 a. m. on April 17, 1943, and spent more than three hours removing men's suits, overcoats, and other merchandise. The burglars virtually "cleaned out" the store and departed at 4:45 a. m.

Farley Never Captured
Five of the thieves were captured and each served a prison term but the reputed leader, "Rip" Farley, never was apprehended.

Irvin W. Kinsey, proprietor of the Kinsey's Men's Shop, recalled the robbery after reading that "Rip" Farley was shot and killed, and his brother, Taylor Farley, 34, of Newport, Ky., and Floyd Bowman, 40, of Covington, were wounded in a gun battle at Newport Friday night.

Bowman was only slightly wounded, but Taylor Farley was reportedly in critical condition, Monday, in Booth hospital at Covington, Ky.

The three men were standing in front of the 633 Club at Newport, early last Friday, when the shooting occurred. The slaying climaxed a series of recent gang battles in Campbell County, Ky.

Revenge Attempt Frustrated
An aftermath of the latest gunplay came early Sunday when in movie-theater fashion an attempt was made by gunmen to get into the Booth Hospital at Covington, apparently to "get" the wounded Taylor Farley. The attempt to "eliminate" Farley was frustrated by hospital attaches and Covington police.

Another sensational angle of the case is the report that relatives and pals of the Farley brothers are out "gunning" for the gangsters who "snuffed" out the life of "Rip" Farley and wounded Taylor Farley and Bowman.

Mr. Kinsey recalled Monday that at about the time his store was robbed in Circleville three years ago there were approximately 15 other burglaries and lootings of stores and banks in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, and that all of those crimes were attributed to the gang led by "Rip" Farley.

Ten Escape Penal Camp

Bloodhounds Aid Search For Desperadoes Who Sowed Roof, Fleed

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 25—City, county and state police, aided by bloodhounds, intensified their search today for ten youthful desperadoes who escaped from a Fulton county penal camp last night after saving their way out through the roof.

The escapees, all white men, made their break at about 9 p. m. from Fulton county's south camp. Police officials said the break was discovered almost immediately and that a guard fired two shots at the convicts as they ran for freedom.

However, there was no indication that either of the shots found a mark.

No trace of the ten escaped prisoners had been reported early today. State highway patrolmen unsuccessfully chased two men late last night who ran away from a grey 1941 Buick sedan which turned over three miles north of Lawrenceville, Ga.

The automobile had been reported stolen 30 minutes after the prison break and police believed that it might have been used by a couple of the escapees. However, Fulton county police officials said most of the escaped men were believed to be hiding out in the suburban areas of East Point, Hapeville or College Park.

The fugitives were not believed to have been armed when they escaped and officials said the escape

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 25—Argentina, once again under a state of siege, today began checking the estimated 3,100,000 ballots cast Sunday to determine whether Col. Juan D. Peron will be its next president.

First returns in Peron's contest with Dr. Jose Tamborini, candidate of the four-party Democratic Union coalition, are not expected for two or three days. A complicated procedure of assembling and checking ballot boxes comes first.

Cardinal Calls On Church To Stand Firm Against Tide Of Atheism

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 25—Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York challenged today the "attackers of religious freedom in many parts of the world" and declared it was the duty of the church to stand against the "wave of militant atheism."

The challenge was issued as he took over the titular church of Sts. John and Paul in a colorful ceremony. The speech was broadcast to the United States.

Collective Papal Audience

The ceremony took place one hour before an unprecedented collective papal audience called by Pope Pius XII for the Sacred College of Cardinals and the Diplomatic Corps. The audience, virtually a fifth consistory, brought speculation that the Pope would make important pronouncement on world affairs.

(Cardinal Spellman will return to New York City March 4 and will be given a public reception at the Metropolitan Opera House the following evening, it was announced today.)

Speaking from a dias under a red and gold canopy at the right of the main altar, Cardinal Spellman accepted titular possession of the church whose history dates back to 362 and which once was the titular church of Pope Pius XII.

Father Buonaventura Oberst, who returned to Rome from New York in January, welcomed Cardinal Spellman and reviewed the history of the church which was founded on the site of the home of two Roman noblemen, martyrs of their faith.

Wave Of Atheism Seen

CINCINNATIANS CREDITED WITH DRUG DISCOVERY

CINCINNATI, Feb. 25—Two Cincinnati doctors today were credited with the discovery that the new drug, streptomycin, brings relief to tularemia (rabbit fever) patients within 12 hours.

The discovery was made by Drs. Lee Foshay and A. B. Pasternack of the University of Cincinnati college of medicine.

The disease, often incurred by hunters or other persons handling wild rabbits, formerly kept patients in bed with fever for 31 days, according to an article on the discovery in the American Medical Association Journal.

New Orleans All A-Tingle, Carnival Spirit In Air

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 25—New Orleans tingled with excitement today in anticipation of the first Mardi Gras in five years and already the holiday carnival spirit was in the air as thousands of early arrivals poured into the "city that care forgot."

Many of the first of an expected 100,000 pleasure-bound visitors spent Sunday sightseeing along Canal street, the "widest street in the world," where flags and bunting fluttered overhead and where huge, grotesque masks topped light standards as the first evidence of the giant displays that will adorn the streets within the next few days.

Other visitors, intent on taking in all that there is to see before the big Mardi Gras celebration March 5, thronged the

RIOTS QUELLED; BOMBAY NORMAL

Casualties Of Four Days Of Violence Total 1,282, With 226 Killed

BOMBAY, Feb. 25—Bombay returned almost to normal today after four violent days of rioting that produced an official casualty list of 1,282, including 226 killed.

A British communique announced that muthous Indian Navy seamen, dockyard workers, and industrial and utility strikers returned to work today. It said the situation was "practically normal."

Official figures listed civilian casualties up to 9 a. m. Monday as 223 dead and 1037 injured. An earlier communique said service casualties were three dead and 19 injured.

The Bombay Chronicle published unofficial figures which placed the casualties up to midnight Sunday at 2,030, including 270 dead. Injured included 1,260 hospitalized and 500 treated at hospitals and dispensaries, then released.

Rioting ran its course during the weekend, dwindling to a few minor incidents yesterday.

A strike of 400 Royal Indian Navy seamen at the Hooghly shore base in Calcutta was called off today, following the unconditional surrender of the Navy mutineers in Bombay Saturday.

Mohammed Ali Jinnah, Moslem league leader, addressed a gigantic but orderly rally of Muslims at Calcutta yesterday. He urged the naval strikers to resume work, and made a renewed plea for Pakistan. (Continued on Page Two)

Federal labor conciliator Green reported after a seven-hour negotiating session last night that definite progress had been made toward settlement of the Detroit milk strike and that opposing parties would not be called to Washington as originally planned.

A spokesman for the Detroit milk dealers said that inability to obtain "a clarified price program" from the office of price administration was all that was holding up settlement of the five-day walkout.

In Cleveland, 1500 members of the AFL milk and ice cream and dairy employees union voted for strike action unless their wage demands were met.

Many of this year's floats will be holdovers from the 1942 Mardi Gras which was cancelled because of the war, but carnival planners promise that this year's affair will be as lavish as ever.

POWER HALT BIG THREAT

Green Reports Every Effort Being Made To Bring Detroit Milk

By United Press
The threat of a shutdown of the Houston, Tex., gas, water and sewage disposal systems was eliminated today, but Pittsburgh area utilities workers went ahead with plans for a power strike, scheduled for one minute after midnight.

Despite threatened walkouts, the national strike total dipped to slightly under the million mark when 17,500 CIO farm equipment workers voted to end a strike against the Caterpillar Tractor Co., Peoria, Ill. There were approximately 886,000 workers away from their jobs as a result of labor disputes.

Stoppage Called Off

The AFL Houston Building Trades Council called off a work stoppage three hours before the 5 p. m. (CST) deadline yesterday, declaring the union "had no desire to cause hardship to the citizens of Houston." The strike had been scheduled in sympathy with the striking city-county employees union, a member of the council.

Negotiations between the Duquesne Light Co. and an Independent union were recessed last night after the company rejected a union proposal to avert a power strike at 12:01 a. m. tomorrow.

In the major labor developments:

1. Houston Mayor Otis Massey warned striking city workers they would lose their civil service rights if they did not return to work by 9 a. m. (CST) today.

Milk Peace Sought
Federal labor conciliator Walter Green reported both parties were making "an honest effort" toward settlement of the Detroit milk strike which has halted deliveries to nearly two million persons since last Thursday.

3. AFL bus drivers for the Chicago and Calumet district Transit company called off a strike, set for 3:30 a. m. today, and agreed to submit their wage dispute to arbitration.

4. General Motors and CIO United Auto Workers officials resumed negotiations with at least three major issues barring immediate settlement of their lengthy dispute, now in its 97th day.

5. CIO Transport Workers president Michael Quill warned of a strike anytime after midnight unless the union was granted exclusive bargaining rights for New York City's streetcar, bus and subway workers.

Tractor Proposal Accepted
Some 17,500 CIO farm equipment workers last night voted to accept a wage proposal of the Caterpillar Tractor Co., ending a 26-day walkout. Workers making less than $1 an hour were granted a 15-cents hourly wage increase, those making more received a blanket 15 per cent raise.

Federal conciliator Green reported after a seven-hour negotiating session last night that definite progress had been made toward settlement of the Detroit milk strike and that opposing parties would not be called to Washington as originally planned.

A spokesman for the Detroit milk dealers said that inability to obtain "a clarified price program" from the office of price administration was all that was holding up settlement of the five-day walkout.

Mr. Kinsey recalled Monday that at about the time his store was robbed in Circleville three years ago there were approximately 15 other burglaries and looting of stores and banks in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, and that all of those crimes were attributed to the gang led by "Rip" Farley.

Ten Escape Penal Camp

Bloodhounds Aid Search For Desperadoes Who Sawed Roof, Fled

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 25—City, county and state police, aided by bloodhounds, intensified their search today for ten youthful desperadoes who escaped from a Fulton county penal camp last night after sawing their way out through the roof.

The escapees, all white men, made their break at about 9 p. m. from Fulton county's south camp. Police officials said the break was discovered almost immediately and that a guard fired two shots at the convicts as they ran for freedom. However, there was no indication that either of the shots found a mark.

No trace of the ten escaped prisoners had been reported early today. State highway patrolmen unsuccessfully chased two men late last night who ran away from a grey 1941 Buick sedan which turned over three miles north of Lawrenceville, Ga.

The automobile had been reported stolen 30 minutes after the prison break and police believed that it might have been used by a couple of the escapees. However, Fulton county police officials said most of the escaped men were believed to be hiding out in the suburban areas of East Point, Hapeville or College Park.

The fugitives were not believed to have been armed when they escaped and officials said the escape (Continued on Page Two)

Cardinal Calls On Church
To Stand Firm Against Tide Of Atheism

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 25—Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York challenged today the "attackers of religious freedom in many parts of the world" and declared it was the duty of the church to stand against the "wave of militant atheism."

The challenge was issued as he took over the titular church of Sts. John and Paul in a colorful ceremony. The speech was broadcast to the United States.

Collective Papal Audience

The ceremony took place one hour before an unprecedented collective papal audience called by Pope Pius XII for the Sacred College of Cardinals and the Diplomatic Corps. The audience, virtually a fifth consistory, brought speculation that the Pope would make important pronouncement on world affairs.

(Cardinal Spellman will return to New York City March 4 and will be given a public reception at the Metropolitan Opera House the following evening, it was announced today.)

Speaking from a dias under a red and gold canopy at the right of the main altar, Cardinal Spellman accepted titular possession of the church whose history dates back to 362 and which once was the titular church of Pope Pius XII.

Father Buonaventura Oberst, who returned to Rome from New York in January, welcomed Cardinal Spellman and reviewed the history of the church which was founded on the site of the home of two Roman noblemen, martyrs of their faith.

Wave Of Atheism Seen

CINCINNATIANS CREDITED WITH DRUG DISCOVERY

CINCINNATI, Feb. 25—Two Cincinnati doctors today were credited with the discovery that the new drug, streptomycin, brings relief to tuberculosis (rabbit fever) patients within 12 hours.

The discovery was made by Drs. Lee Foshay and A. B. Pasternack of the University of Cincinnati college of medicine.

The disease, often incurred by hunters or other persons handling wild rabbits, formerly kept patients in bed with fever for 31 days, according to an article on the discovery in the American Medical Association Journal.

FIRE LOSS IS $1,000,000

NEW ORLEANS ALL A-TINGLE, CARNIVAL SPIRIT IN AIR

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 25—New Orleans tingled with excitement today in anticipation of the first Mardi Gras in five years and already the holiday carnival spirit was in the air as thousands of early arrivals poured into the "city that care forgot."

Many of the first of an expected 100,000 pleasure-bound visitors spent Sunday nightseeing along Canal street, the "widest street in the world," where flags and bunting fluttered overhead and where huge, grotesque masks topped light standards as the first evidence of the giant displays that will adorn the streets within the next few days.

Other visitors, intent on taking in all that there is to see before the big Mardi Gras celebration March 5, thronged the narrow streets of the famed French quarter or sought entertainment in the honky-tonk atmosphere of Bourbon street. The museum spots in the picturesque St. Louis Cathedral area also received their share of attention.

Today the sightseers and souvenir hunters are haunting the antique stores that line mellow, old Royal street. Other far-sighted fans already are picking out their posts atop marquees, roofs, windows and balconies along Canal street where the first of the five carnival parades will pass Thursday night in all its gaudy splendor.

Many of this year's floats will be holdovers from the 1942 Mardi Gras which was canceled because of the war, but carnival planners promise that this year's affair will be as lavish as ever.

Cinderella Girl

SELECTED as "Miss Cinderella" of Mobile, Alabama's 1946 Mardi Gras celebration, 10-year-old Bernice Morgan (above) plays a prominent role in the postwar renewal of the city's colorful pageant. Bernice was chosen in tribute to her courage and spirit in overcoming a dread blood disease in 1941. (International)

RIOTS QUELLED; BOMBAY NORMAL

Casualties Of Four Days
Of Violence Total 1,282,
With 226 Killed

BOMBAY, Feb. 25—Bombay returned almost to normal today after four violent days of rioting that produced an official casualty list of 1,282, including 226 killed.

A British communique announced that riotous Indian Navy seamen, dockyard workers, and industrial and utility strikers returned to work today. It said the situation was "practically normal."

Official figures listed civilian casualties up to 9 a. m. Monday as 223 dead and 1037 injured. An earlier communique said service casualties were three dead and 19 injured.

The Bombay Chronicle published unofficial figures which placed the casualties up to midnight Sunday at 2,030, including 270 dead. Injured included 1,260 hospitalized and 500 treated at hospitals and dispensaries, then released.

Rioting ran its course during the weekend, dwindling to a few minor incidents yesterday.

A strike of 400 Royal Indian Navy seamen at the Hooghly shore base in Calcutta was called off today, following the unconditional surrender of the Navy mutineers in Bombay Saturday.

Mohammed Ali Jinnah, Moslem league leader, addressed a gigantic but orderly rally of Muslims at Calcutta yesterday. He urged the naval strikers to resume work, and made a renewed plea for Pakistan. (Continued on Page Two)

POWER HALT BIG THREAT

Green Reports Every Effort
Being Made To Bring
Detroit Milk

By United Press

The threat of a shutdown of the Houston, Tex., gas, water and sewage disposal systems was eliminated today, but Pittsburgh area utilities workers went ahead with plans for a power strike, scheduled for one minute after midnight.

Despite threatened walkouts, the national strike total dipped to slightly under the million mark when 17,500 CIO farm equipment workers voted to end a strike against the Caterpillar Tractor Co., Peoria, Ill. There were approximately 886,000 workers away from their jobs as a result of labor disputes.

Stoppage Called Off

The AFL Houston Building Trades Council called off a work stoppage three hours before the 5 p. m. (CST) deadline yesterday, declaring the union "had no desire to cause hardship to the citizens of Houston." The strike had been scheduled in sympathy with the striking city-county employees union, a member of the council.

Negotiations between the Duquesne Light Co. and an Independent union were recessed last night after the company rejected a union proposal to avert a power strike at 12:01 a. m. tomorrow.

In the major labor developments:

1. Houston Mayor Otis Massey warned striking city workers they would lose their civil service rights if they did not return to work by 9 a. m. (CST) today.

Milk Peace Sought

2. Federal labor conciliator Walter Green reported both parties were making "an honest effort" toward settlement of the Detroit milk strike which has halted deliveries to nearly two million persons since last Thursday.

3. AFL bus drivers for the Chicago and Calumet district Transit company called off a strike, set for 3:30 a. m. today, and agreed to submit their wage dispute to arbitration.

4. General Motors and CIO United Auto Workers officials resumed negotiations with at least three major issues barring immediate settlement of their lengthy dispute, now in its 97th day.

5. CIO Transport Workers president Michael Quill warned of a strike anytime after midnight unless the union was granted exclusive bargaining rights for New York City's streetcar, bus and subway workers.

Tractor Proposal Accepted

Some 17,500 CIO farm equipment workers last night voted to accept a wage proposal of the Caterpillar Tractor Co., ending a 26-day walkout. Workers making less than $1 an hour were granted a 15-cents hourly wage increase, those making more received a blanket 15 per cent raise.

Federal conciliator Green reported after a seven-hour negotiating session last night that definite progress had been made toward settlement of the Detroit milk strike and that opposing parties would not be called to Washington as originally planned.

A spokesman for the Detroit milk dealers said that inability to obtain "a clarified price program" from the office of price administration was all that was holding up settlement of the five-day walkout.

In Cleveland, 1500 members of the AFL milk and ice cream and dairy employees union voted for strike action unless their wage demands were met.

KING CHRISTIAN REPORTED ILL OF PNEUMONIA

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 25—King Christian X, 75, was reported ill with pneumonia today. An official bulletin said last night that mild pneumonia developed after a cold. His condition was described as "fairly good."

WESTERN BLOC SAID TO FOSTER RUSSIAN SPLIT

conomic sanctions, which, he said, must be a cooperative effort by all allies.

He said the "weak-kneed" approach to Spain on the question of Nazi property "has been nothing short of scandalous."

Nixon charged that allied military government officials had put out misleading statements on the extent of the destruction of German factories, and the wiping out of Nazi influences.

Dismantling Limited

"Dismantling and demolition in Farben-owned affiliated and operated plants have thus far been on an extremely limited scale," Nixon said. "Some materials, office furniture and equipment are being returned to other Farben plants—a form of Farben restitution which appears to be taking precedence over restitution of allied nations and which is facilitating the reconstruction and regrowth of the I. G. Farben trust."

He said that no decartelization law has yet been issued in Germany because of British opposition.

"There will be no German decartelization law," he said, "unless the state department urges the British government to reconsider its position."

"Germany can never be economically disarmed until her internal monopolies, industrial trusts and her external cartel arrangements are destroyed," he said. "A thorough going program to achieve this must be instituted immediately."

"And its execution should be entrusted only to officials who are interested in carrying out the Potsdam agreement and the policy directives of this government rather than in preserving their old business connections and their own economic positions."

ARGENTINA VOTE COUNT AWAITED

night after a 48-hour suspension for the election.

War Minister Gen. Humberto Sosa Molina ordered the 100,000 Army, Navy and Air Force troops who supervised the orderly election to return to their barracks late last night. He said their job was finished.

Both Peron and Tamborini headquarters claimed victory. Dr. Enrique M. Mosca, Tamborini's running mate, said, "we have won everywhere." Rear Admiral Alberto Tesaie, one of Peron's managers, said his reports showed that Peron had swept the country.

Each side praised the orderly, impartial manner in which the Army supervised the election. There was quiet throughout the country during the polling. Five soldiers were killed in incidents linked indirectly with the election. Two Buenos Aires policemen were arrested for distributing publicity for Peron.

Vote Over 3,000,000

Estimates placed the total vote at nearly 90 per cent of the 3,559,992 registered voters. Keen interest in the contest and favorable weather helped run up the total in the country's first presidential election since 1937.

A 98-year-old man was carried into a polling booth by two soldiers to cast his ballot in one province. In another a 78-year-old man rode for three days by horseback and bus to reach his home polls.

Several questions remained despite the unexpected calm of the voting. They were: (1) How honest will the counting be; (2) Will the results be respected; (3) When, and for how long a term, will the new president take office. The military government's election decree did not set an inauguration date.

The winner will be determined largely by results in the Buenos Aires region. The federal capital has 68 of the 376 electoral college votes and Buenos Aires province has 88. It appeared essential for Peron to carry Buenos Aires province if he was to be elected.

THREE PICKAWAY TEAMS TO SEEK CLASS B CROWN

Representatives of three Pickaway county teams, Ashville, New Holland and Monroe will be on hand at Otterbein College, Westerville, at 6:15 p. m. Monday for the Central District Class B tournament drawings.

The tournament, with an expected entry of 38 teams opens Tuesday at Otterbein and continues through Saturday of this week. Play also will be held March 5, 6 and 9. One of the winning teams of the tournament goes to Springfield and the other to Logan for sectional play.

TWELVE REPORT FOR PHYSICALS AT FORT HAYES

Twelve Circleville and Pickaway County youths reported at 7:15 a. m. Monday and proceeded to Fort Hayes at Columbus for physical examination under Selective Service regulations. Walter Edwin Melvin, 411 E. Franklin street, was the leader.

The group included: Ernest Taylor, 506½ N. Court street; Jacob Ludwig Justice, 225 E. Union street; Willis Andrew Flowers, 817 S. Scioto street; Harry E. Briner, 1238 S. Pickaway street; Homer Boltenhouse, P. O. Box 265; Glen Marvin Jones, 353 E. Union street; Charles Junior Pitt, Williamsport; William David Hinkle, Ashville; Russell Edward Gregg, Route 2, Ashville; Luther Thomas Wilson, Route 1, Circleville; and Jack Walter Burton, Route 2, Ashville.

of cord around her neck. After that, he placed her on the toilet seat and left her there while he ate a sandwich.

When she became unconscious and fell to the floor, police said he picked her up and placed her face down in the bathtub which had been filled with water previously to prevent the Gurfein's dog from sleeping in it.

"She stopped crying," police quoted him as having said, "so I laid her on the floor."

He fled to New Jersey and was picked up for routine questioning at Whippany after he had tried to flag down a police car for a ride.

Turk told police he had run away from home after an argument with his parents about visiting a boy friend. A short time later a message came from New York that he was wanted for murder.

The youth, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. John Turk, lived in the same apartment house as the Gurfeins. Both families were good friends and he often had been employed as a baby sitter by the Gurfeins.

Despite his youth, Turk can be tried for murder and if convicted on a first degree charge, can be put to death in the electric chair, according to the district attorney's office. There is no age limit on a first degree murder defendant.

PAULEY FIGHTS FOR NAVY POST

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 — Edwin W. Pauley stood firm today by his decision to fight to the last to win senate confirmation as under-secretary of the Navy.

Despite mounting opposition from Democrats as well as Republicans, a spokesman for the California oil man said he was eager to make another appearance before the senate naval affairs committee, preferably after all opposition testimony has been presented.

The committee resumes hearings on the controversial nomination tomorrow. First witness will be President William A. Patterson of United Airlines. He will be asked whether Pauley, while Democratic party treasurer, put pressure on him for contributions to the party's 1944 campaign chest.

There was no indication if or when the committee would recall former Secretary of Interior Harold I. Ickes, who resigned from the cabinet because of differences with President Truman over Pauley's qualifications. Mr. Truman has repeatedly stood by his nominee as an honest man.

Meanwhile, informal polls of the senate showed that the nomination would be approved or rejected by a narrow margin when the committee sends it to the floor, with or without a favorable recommendation.

Pauley's chances dwindled sharply in the face of open opposition from such prominent Democrats as Sen. Claude Pepper, Fla., and Tom Stewart, Tenn. Neither questioned his honesty but both urged him to withdraw in the interests of party harmony.

Deaths and Funerals

EDWARD ROWLAND
S. Edward Rowland, 72, Route 1, New Holland, was found dead Monday morning in his home. He had lived alone for about 18 years on the Aaron Keller farm on State Route 277 in Perry Township, about 18 miles west of Circleville.

Mr. Rowland's body was discovered by members of the Keller family who investigated when they failed to see him for several hours. Mr. Rowland was born in Gallia County and was the son of Abraham and Lucy Ann Rowland.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff and Coroner Lloyd Jones were summoned. The coroner indicated that his verdict will be one of natural death.

Mr. Rowland is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Janie McPherson of Hutchinson, Kans., and Mrs. Lucinda Chase, of Springfield. The body was removed to the Hill Funeral Home at Williamsport. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

He was one of the opponents responsible for the overthrow of Premier Edouard Herriot in December, 1932, when France reneged on her war debts despite Herriot's plea to honor France's signature.

On Blum's parliamentary record, during the long period of his undisputed leadership of the French Socialist party, also stands his refusal of appropriations to keep the French army strong and fitted with modern arms.

Blum's Socialists voted against the two-year compulsory military service law, but lost. In 1930, Blum preached disarmament. His record shows however that by 1939 he was rapidly preaching aggressive action against the totalitarian powers. It was too late and the war caught France without planes or tanks, with a Pacificist army and with the Maginot Line extending only half way to the channel.

Lost Control in 1939
In May 1939, shortly before the war began, Blum lost control of his party. Preaching the arming of France against Fascism, he was defeated in a party congress by Paul Faure who demanded the Socialists adhere to their traditional Pacifism. The party overwhelmingly voted with Faure against Blum.

Despite his loss of power, Blum was arrested by the Gestapo when the Germans invaded France and spent four years in Buchenwald and other German prison camps until he was liberated by the American Army in northern Italy.

Now aged 74, Blum holds only the role of "elder statesman" and his mission to London and Washington is his first official function since the collapse of France.

atomic age of Godless materialism, threatens the death of civilization."

"Talk of liberation of man is empty theorizing if the fundamental freedom—freedom of religion—necessary for human happiness is denied," he said.

He said the anxiety the Pope had expressed for portions of his flock "extends to many parts of the world where man's right or religious freedom is violated with diabolical deceit and satanic fury."

Referring to happiness as the supreme desire of man, the Cardinal said the inspiration to help accomplish the mission of the church toward this goal comes from "the unconquerable spirit of martyrs—both the martyred soldiers of our church and of our country."

was not in the order of a violent break.

"They just quietly sawed their way out and beat it," one official said. "I don't think they've got any guns, but I wouldn't be at all surprised to see them try to get guns and stage holdups. I know they haven't got any money. That and new clothes are going to be the first things they try to get."

Officials said the escapees were road gang workers and were dressed in prison khaki when they escaped.

The prisoners, according to Ranger G. Ward, day guard at the Ben Hill camp where records on the men were kept, were housed in a concrete barracks 30 by 90 feet with a roof of two-inch by eight-inch boards.

A general radio alarm was broadcast immediately after the break and road blocks were set up at strategic cross roads and intersections. All traffic was halted in the East Point-Hapeville area while police made a thorough check of all automobiles and trackless trolleys.

A couple of the convicts were long-termers with sentences ranging up to 55 years while others were under only six-month sentences.

Those who escaped were listed as Ralph Skinner, 26; Ralph Gililand, 19; Clifford Hawkins, 18; Robert Key, 17; James W. Maddox, 26; William C. Peppers, 17; Andrew C. Dobbs, 21; Sanford Cridler, 24; Everett "Doc" Reavis, 22, and H. L. Nelson, 19. Reavis was serving 30 to 55 years for robbery and burglary, and Cridler four to 20 years for automobile larceny and breaking parole.

LT. WILLIAM PILE PRESUMED DEAD, PARENTS LEARN

Word has been received from the Government, that Lt. William Pile, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Pile, 122 Edison avenue, has been officially presumed dead, having been listed as missing in action since December 23, 1944.

He was lead pilot of a squadron of B-26 Marauders en route to bomb railroad bridges at Mayen, Germany, when attacked by enemy aircraft. This was Lt. Pile's 55th mission. He had had two previous forced landings.

He and his co-pilot held the plane in control while their seven crew members bailed out from the burning ship. Six of these boys were captured but are now at home. The seventh boy has never been heard from or located. Neither the pilot nor co-pilot had time to escape from the ship before it crashed and exploded.

Lt. Pile was born in Circleville February 13, 1920; graduated from Circleville High School in 1938. He enlisted with the Ohio National Guards. He was transferred to the Air Corps in 1942. Was commissioned a Second Lieutenant from Blackland Army Air School July 29, 1943. He received special twin engine training at Del Rio, Texas, and at Lake Charles, La. On March 1, 1944 he flew his own crew in a B-26 across the Atlantic.

He had been awarded the Air Medal and ten Oak Leaf clusters.

WESTERN BLOC SAID TO FOSTER RUSSIAN SPLIT

He said the "weak-kneed" approach to Spain on the question of Nazi property "has been nothing short of scandalous."

Nixon charged that allied military government officials had put out misleading statements on the extent of the destruction of German factories, and the wiping out of Nazi influences.

Dismantling Limited

"Dismantling and demolition in Farben-owned affiliated and operated plants have thus far been on an extremely limited scale," Nixon said. "Some materials, office furniture and equipment are being returned to other Farben plants—a form of Farben restitution which appears to be taking precedence over restitution of allied nations and which is facilitating the reconstruction and regrowth of the I. G. Farben trust."

He said that no decartelization law has yet been issued in Germany because of British opposition.

"There will be no German decartelization law," he said, "unless the state department urges the British government to reconsider its position."

"Germany can never be economically dismantled until her internal monopolies, industrial trusts and her external cartel arrangements are destroyed," he said. "A thorough going program to achieve this must be instituted immediately."

"And its execution should be entrusted only to officials who are interested in carrying out the Potsdam agreement and the policy directives of this government rather than in preserving their old business connections and their own economic positions."

War Minister Gen. Humberto Sosa Molina ordered the 100,000 Army, Navy and Air Force troops who supervised the orderly election to return to their barracks late last night. He said their job was finished.

Both Peron and Tamborini headquarters claimed victory. Dr. Enrique M. Mosca, Tamborini's running mate, said, "we have won everywhere." Rear Admiral Alberto Tessaire, one of Peron's managers, said his reports showed that Peron had swept the country.

Each side praised the orderly, impartial manner in which the Army supervised the election. There was quiet throughout the country during the polling. Five soldiers were killed in incidents linked indirectly with the election. Two Buenos Aires policemen were arrested for distributing publicity for Peron.

Vote Over 3,000,000

Estimates placed the total vote at nearly 90 per cent of the 3,559,992 registered voters. Keen interest in the contest and favorable weather helped run up the total in the country's first presidential election since 1937.

A 98-year-old man was carried into a polling booth by two soldiers to cast his ballot in one province. In another a 78-year-old man rode for three days by horseback and bus to reach his home polls.

Several questions remained despite the unexpected calm of the voting. They were: (1) How honest will the counting be; (2) Will the results be respected; (3) When, and for how long a term, will the new president take office. The military government's election decree did not set an inauguration date.

The winner will be determined largely by results in the Buenos Aires region. The federal capital has 68 of the 376 electoral college votes and Buenos Aires province has 88. It appeared essential for Peron to carry Buenos Aires province if he was to be elected.

THREE PICKAWAY TEAMS TO SEEK CLASS B CROWN

Representatives of three Pickaway county teams, Ashville, New Holland and Monroe will be on hand at Otterbein College, Westerville, at 6:15 p. m. Monday for the Central District Class B tournament drawings.

The tournament, with an expected entry of 38 teams opens Tuesday at Otterbein and continues through Saturday of this week. Play also will be held March 5, 6 and 9. One of the winning teams of the tournament goes to Springfield and the other to Logan for sectional play.

TWELVE REPORT FOR PHYSICALS AT FORT HAYES

Twelve Circleville and Pickaway County youths reported at 7:15 a. m. Monday and proceeded to Fort Hayes at Columbus for physical examination under Selective Service regulations. Walter Edwin Melvin, 411 E. Franklin street, was the leader.

The group included: Ernest Taylor, 506 1/2 N. Court street; Jacob Ludwig Justice, 225 E. Union street; Willis Andrew Flowers, 817 S. Scioto street; Harry E. Briner, 1238 S. Pickaway street; Homer Boltenhouse, P. O. Box 265; Glen Marvin Jones, 353 E. Union street; Charles Junior Pitt, Williamsport; William David Hinkle, Ashville; Russell Edward Gregg, Route 2, Ashville; Luther Thomas Wilson, Route 1, Circleville; and Jack Walter Burton, Route 2, Ashville.

When she became unconscious and fell to the floor, police said he picked her up and placed her face down in the bathtub which had been filled with water previously to prevent the Gurfelin's dog from sleeping in it.

"She stopped crying," police quoted him as having said, "so I laid her on the floor."

He fled to New Jersey and was picked up for routine questioning at Whippany after he had tried to flag down a police car for a ride.

Turk told police he had run away from home after an argument with his parents about visiting a boy friend. A short time later a message came from New York that he was wanted for murder.

The youth, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. John Turk, lived in the same apartment house as the Gurfelns. Both families were good friends and he often had been employed as a baby sitter by the Gurfelns.

Despite his youth, Turk can be tried for murder and if convicted on a first degree charge, can be put to death in the electric chair, according to the district attorney's office. There is no age limit on a first degree murder defendant.

PAULEY FIGHTS FOR NAVY POST

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 — Edwin W. Pauley stood firm today by his decision to fight to the last to win senate confirmation as undersecretary of the Navy.

Despite mounting opposition from Democrats as well as Republicans, a spokesman for the California oil man said he was eager to make another appearance before the senate naval affairs committee, preferably after all opposition testimony has been presented.

The committee resumes hearings on the controversial nomination tomorrow. First witness will be President William A. Patterson of United Airlines. He will be asked whether Pauley, while Democratic party treasurer, put pressure on him for contributions to the party's 1944 campaign chest.

There was no indication if or when the committee would recall former Secretary of Interior Harold I. Ickes, who resigned from the cabinet because of differences with President Truman over Pauley's qualifications. Mr. Truman has repeatedly stood by his nominee as an honest man.

Meanwhile, informal polls of the senate showed that the nomination would be approved or rejected by a narrow margin when the committee sends it to the floor, with or without a favorable recommendation.

Pauley's chances dwindled sharply in the face of open opposition from such prominent Democrats as Sen. Claude Pepper, Fla., and Tom Stewart, Tenn. Neither questioned his honesty but both urged him to withdraw in the interests of party harmony.

GEN. CHIANG RETURNS

CHUNGKING, Feb. 25—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek returned here today after a two-week trip to Shanghai, Nanking, and Hangchow, where he was believed to have discussed re-occupation policies, Nationalist-Communist accord, and future Manchurian policy with area leaders.

Deaths and Funerals

EDWARD ROWLAND

S. Edward Rowland, 72, Route 1, New Holland, was found dead Monday morning in his home. He had lived alone for about 18 years on the Aaron Keller farm on State Route 277 in Perry Township, about 18 miles west of Circleville.

Mr. Rowland's body was discovered by members of the Keller family who investigated when they failed to see him for several hours. Mr. Rowland was born in Gallia County and was the son of Abraham and Lucy Ann Rowland.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff and Coroner Lloyd Jones were summoned. The coroner indicated that his verdict will be one of natural death.

Mr. Rowland is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Janie McPherson of Hutchinson, Kans., and Mrs. Lucinda Chase, of Springfield. The body was removed to the Hill Funeral Home at Williamsport. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

ADKINS, RENICK GO TO CHICAGO ON WATER DEAL

Attorneys Joseph W. Adkins, Jr. and Thomas Renick, special counsel for the City of Circleville in negotiations for the purchase of the water system, planned to leave Monday afternoon for Chicago, Ill., where they will confer with engineers and bonding companies relative to the project.

They said they planned to return to Circleville by Thursday. The matters to be discussed, the lawyers explained, include the amount of the proposed bond issues and the types of improvements that may be made.

"Talk of liberation of man is empty theorizing if the fundamental freedom—freedom of religion—necessary for human happiness is denied," he said.

He said the anxiety the Pope had expressed for portions of his flock "extends to many parts of the world where man's right or religious freedom is violated with diabolical deceit and satanic fury."

Referring to happiness as the supreme desire of man, the Cardinal said the inspiration to help accomplish the mission of the church toward this goal comes from "the unconquerable spirit of martyrs—both the martyred soldiers of our church and of our country."

"They just quietly sawed their way out and beat it," one official said. "I don't think they've got any guns, but I wouldn't be at all surprised to see them try to get guns and stage holdups. I know they haven't got any money. That and new clothes are going to be the first things they try to get."

Officials said the escapees were road gang workers and were dressed in prison khaki when they escaped.

The prisoners, according to Ranger G. Ward, guard at the Ben Hill camp where records on the men were kept, were housed in a concrete barracks 30 by 90 feet with a roof of two-inch by eight-inch boards.

A general radio alarm was broadcast immediately after the break and road blocks were set up at strategic cross roads and intersections. All traffic was halted in the East Point-Hapeville area while police made a thorough check of all automobiles and trackless trolleys.

A couple of the convicts were long-termers with sentences ranging up to 55 years while others were under only six-month sentences.

Those who escaped were listed as Ralph Skinner, 26; Ralph Gillesland, 19; Clifford Hawkins, 18; Robert Key, 17; James W. Maddox, 26; William C. Peppers, 17; Andrew C. Dobbs, 21; Sanford Crider, 24; Everett "Doc" Reavis, 22, and H. L. Nelson, 19. Reavis was serving 30 to 55 years for robbery and burglary, and Crider four to 20 years for automobile larceny and breaking parole.

LT. WILLIAM PILE PRESUMED DEAD, PARENTS LEARN

Word has been received from the Government, that Lt. William Pile, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Pile, 122 Edison avenue, has been officially presumed dead, having been listed as missing in action since December 23, 1944.

He was lead pilot of a squadron of B-26 Marauders en route to bomb railroad bridges at Mayen, Germany, when attacked by enemy aircraft. This was Lt. Pile's 55th mission. He had had two previous forced landings.

He and his co-pilot held the plane in control while their seven crew members bailed out from the burning ship. Six of these boys were captured but are now at home. The seventh boy has never been heard from or located. Neither the pilot nor co-pilot had time to escape from the ship before it crashed and exploded.

Lt. Pile was born in Circleville February 13, 1920; graduated from Circleville High School in 1938. He enlisted with the Ohio National Guards. He was transferred to the Air Corps in 1942. Was commissioned a Second Lieutenant from Blackland Army Air School July 29, 1943. He received special twin engine training at Del Rio, Texas, and at Lake Charles, La. On March 1, 1944 he flew his own crew in a B-26 across the Atlantic.

He had been awarded the Air Medal and ten Oak Leaf clusters.

MAN, 21, SEIZED AFTER ARREST OF LOCAL GIRL

Acting on information provided by a 14-year-old Circleville girl who was arrested in an intoxicated condition shortly after midnight Sunday, police are holding Robert O'Brien, 21, mill worker of Laurelville in the city jail for investigation.

The girl was arrested on East Franklin street. She told Circleville police she was staying with O'Brien at a tourist camp on route 23 north of Circleville.

Inquiry at the tourist camp disclosed that the two were registered as man and wife. Police, accompanied by Juvenile Officer John Kerns went to Adelphi and arrested O'Brien at 3:30 a. m. Sunday.

City police turned the girl over to juvenile authorities. She is being held in the county jail.

TIGERS CANCEL MATCH TONIGHT

Game With Lions Called Off To Give Team Rest For Delaware Tourney

Circleville's game with Washington C. H., which was to be played Monday night on the Blue Lions' floor, has been called off so the Tigers will have more time to prepare for their first game in the district tourney at Delaware Tuesday.

In their first tournament game, the Tigers will oppose Delaware Tuesday at 9 p. m. Circleville, which has shown vast improvement during the latter part of the season, will be favored to beat Delaware. Delaware has won 3 games, while losing 16, but will have the psychological advantage of playing on its home floor.

Circleville will enter the tourney with a fairly impressive record. Although the Tigers have won only 6 games, while losing 9 for the entire season, in South Central Ohio league competition, they have won 5 and lost 4 league games to take runner-up position. Two of the league losses were to Chillicothe, which overshadowed every team in this section. The Tigers have beaten every other team in the league at least once and have defeated Hillsboro twice. Greenfield, in comparison, won 6 league games and lost 7.

Besides the two league wins over Hillsboro and league wins over Washington, Wilmington and Greenfield, Circleville beat Grove City in regular season play. The Tigers lost to Wilmington, Greenfield, Liberty Union, Lancaster, Logan, Chillicothe, Bremen and Ashville. After losing their first five games, the Tigers won six of the last ten played.

Lions Next Foe
The winner of the Circleville-Deleware game will oppose Washington C. H. in the second round Thursday at 9 p. m. Circleville swamped the Blue Lions, 55-29, in Roll and Bowl February 3 and will be favored to repeat the trick if they advance past the Delaware game.

CHICAGO PICKETS NABBED BY COPS

ESCORTED BY CHICAGO POLICE, two of eleven CIO pickets arrested at the W. H. Jones Foundry and Machinery Co., Chicago, Ill., are led to a patrol wagon. Rioting began when non-union workers tried to enter the plant and strikers attempted to overturn their cars. (International)

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Two couples have made application for marriage license in probate court. They are Harold Eugene Smith, 24, Walnut street, installer for Western Electric Company, and Zelpha June Crites, 309 Watt street, clerk; and Frank Robert Landis, mechanic of Millfield, and Mary Kathryn Bowman, teacher of Route 1 Stoutsville.

A Message from President Truman

It is of the utmost importance that the American people understand the status and significance of our new Regular Army. It will be the duty of this volunteer Army to help protect the freedoms and maintain the peace we have won at so great a cost.

Atomic power has increased rather than decreased the necessity for our preparation, both in manpower and material. In the coming atomic age, the United States must maintain its military strength—to insure our national security and to promote world order.

Such grave responsibilities obviously cannot be met by anything less than the highest caliber of men. For this reason, I asked Congress for legislation to increase the opportunities of the soldier in the Regular Army. This legislation has been passed and signed by me, and is now in effect.

In serving his country, a man can now get good pay, education, travel and security—with family allowances for his dependents and a new 20-year retirement plan that compares with or excels anything in American industry. These, and the many other advantages of the new Regular Army, should be made known to all our service men and their families.

The Army has embarked upon a world-wide campaign to enlist enough men so that, in demobilizing, we shall not strip our services below the peacetime need. It is imperative that public support be given to this program. We must replace as soon as possible men who have served long and arduously, and who wish to return to civil life. We must also build an Army of volunteers adequate to all our requirements—at home and abroad—until the long-range peace terms and military policies are worked out.

I hope that every individual and group will give earnest and enthusiastic co-operation to this great effort to rebuild our Regular Army. The success of this campaign is vital to the performance of our tremendous task of securing the peace.

Congress authorizes most attractive Enlistment Opportunities in our History

1. Enlistments for 1 1/2, 2 or 3 years. (One-year enlistments permitted for men who have been in the Army six months.)
2. Enlistment age from 17 to 34 years inclusive, except for men now in Army, who may reenlist at any age, and former service men depending on length of service.
3. The best pay scale, medical care, food, quarters and clothing in Army history.
4. An increase in the reenlistment bonus to $50 for each year of active service since such bonus was last paid, or since last entry into service.
5. Up to 90 days' paid furlough, depending on length of service, with furlough paid to home and return, for men now in the Army who reenlist.
6. A 30-day furlough every year at full pay.
7. Mustering-out pay (based upon length of service) to all men who are discharged to reenlist.
8. Option to retire at half pay for the rest of your life after 20 years' service—increasing to three-quarters pay after 30 years' service. (Retirement income in grade of Master or First Sergeant up to $155.25 per month for life.) All previous active federal military service counts toward retirement.
9. Benefits under the GI Bill of Rights.
10. Family allowances for the term of enlistment for dependents of men who enlist or reenlist before July 1, 1946.
11. Opportunity to learn one or more of 200 skills and trades taught in Army schools in U. S. or occupied countries.
12. Choice of branch of service and overseas theater in the Air, Ground or Service Forces on 3-year enlistments.
13. Reserve and A.U.S. commissioned officers released from active duty may be enlisted in Grade 1 (Master Sergeant) and still retain their reserve commissions.

SQUIRRELS AND PEOPLE

TWO squirrels come every day all winter to the feeding station. They gorge themselves on the nuts set out, eat much of the corn placed for the cardinals and then proceed to take away in their cheeks every nut left after their stomachs are full. They must have a tremendous cache of nuts somewhere, more than they can ever consume.

People are close kin to squirrels. Consider stockings. A hosiery company president said the other day that enough nylon hose are being made to supply every woman in America, but only comparatively few are getting them, because some women are hoarding. Many department stores dare not place nylons on sale because they fear riots. So they have instituted elaborate systems of distributing to a preferred list generally of charge customers. The woman with a charge account in eight stores can get eight pairs of hose. A cash-paying woman goes barelegged or wears cotton hose, since rayons are temporarily lacking.

The stocking manufacturer says nylon and rayon hose will continue scarce for another year unless women stop being squirrels. It is the same with other items. White flour suddenly has become almost non-procurable. A department store in Newark, N. J., had to close when a stampeding mob battled for shirts.

Squirrels are not expected to know any better. But people?

CELESTIAL VISITS

"BLESS me, this is pleasant, riding on a rail," was the burden of an old and almost forgotten ditty which, if memory runs true, referred to riding in a train pulled by a primitive locomotive. But that travel was nothing, in comparison with the celestial locomotion forecast by Dr. Carl K. Seyfert, assistant professor of astronomy at Case School of Applied Science, in Cleveland.

He predicts that we may expect, within a few years, to establish contact with Venus, across a gap of 26,000,000 miles. That is not far, apparently, as planets go; and since the word "planet" itself means "wanderer", it seems as if we might expect a nod of recognition almost any time from this charming Venus person. Anyway, ten years is not long to wait, as time goes in the celestial regions.

A good motto for these times is the Shakespearean advice, "Put money in thy purse." But what Shakespeare meant was to save it.

UP AND DOWN BROADWAY

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK, Feb. 25—The cocktail party trotters of New York's literary and entertainment sets owe Ilka Chase a vote of thanks. She gets to her parties on time.

Yesterday afternoon was my second party experience with the actress-author, and as on the first occasion, she was right there when the first dog was hung. I stress this as a redeeming trait because at most such affairs, especially those involving Hollywood personalities, the guests of honor think it improper to show up until an hour or an hour and a half after the scheduled starting time.

Sometimes this is a neat dodge for being able to rush in, do a fast five minutes of introductions and then beat it on the plea of the lateness of the hour and other engagements. Also the tardy arrival does not get a chance to make an "entrance."

Miss Chase was honored by her publisher, Doubleday, for her just-published novel, "I Love Miss Tilli Bean," which is my personal nomination for the year's most engaging name for a person and the ditto book title. It's a tale of the fashionable dressmaking world, which Miss Chase

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—In complete official privacy, the state department has spent some weeks getting up a new statement of American foreign policy. The only great question of policy, of course, is how to treat Russia. On this, the paper was not illuminating in its original form.

The Byrnes policy established at Moscow and London since mid-December, has been substantially this: Press no point which would be offensive to Russian claims. Retreat on policy as much as possible and accept Russian contentions. The apparent but not professed purpose has been to entice Russia out of her nationalistic isolation into dealing in the world of affairs.

This has kept world news rather calm but events behind the news, particularly from Europe, are working up boldly and may break sensationally. Do not, for instance, let yourself be currently misled into believing the domination of the French government by Communists and Socialists is a permanent arrangement, or that the name of De Gaulle will remain forever in retirement from French politics.

Give greater notice than has been given to the victory of the Belgian Catholic party over both Communists and Socialists. Belgium is half French, with all the same elements of French politics in miniature. Indeed throughout Europe, even in Yugoslavia, the resistance to Communism is taking the only effective form yet evidenced in the gathering together of Catholic elements.

I have heard American statesmen say these Christian groups are the only ones in the world today who know how to resist communism, ideologically or politically. These groups have a firm ideology themselves.

Britain was the first nation to talk up to the Soviets, but the diplomatic resistance of Bevin at the London UNO conference was tactical rather than formidable. The Russians had raised the question of British influence in Greece, primarily to cover their own tracks in Poland, the Balkans, Iran, Turkey and other places where they are attempting to extend their influence.

They forced Britain to the defensive by raising this question. After accomplishing this purpose, and succeeding in getting UNO to allow Moscow to deal separately with a pro-Communist Iranian Prime Minister installed at Teheran for the purpose—Russia withdrew her Greek charges against Bevin. The Indonesian charges she continued to press, keeping Britain on the defensive.

The common current belief that Bevin may have found a way of treating with Moscow therefore is unjustified. He twice passed "the lie" to them and they backed down, true enough. But when you add up the results, you will see Russia won the action she wanted from UNO, while Bevin won nothing except the red herring. Emulation of Bevin by us, then, would not answer the question of how to deal with Moscow.

President Truman, meanwhile, is recognizing that the Army seeks to know how to get along with the Soviets, without losing their shirts, better than our timid and confused diplomats. He chose General Mar-knows from armhole to zipper.

Miss Chase is prepping now for a lecture which will occupy her time until Summer. After that there may be a new play of her own authorship.

The party brought one of those amusing sidelights which frequently adorn such affairs. Invited were two middle-aged women who are among the foremost in the field of radio personalities. One of them, who fancied herself rather close to Double-day, stormed in berating the publicity people because they had permitted Miss Chase to be interviewed yesterday on her rival's program. The rival came later and it became the task of the publicity people to keep the two separated by the width of the well-filled room.

"Jed," the third play of the season to deal with the racial problem in the South, opened last night at the Martin Beck theater. Robert Ardrey is the author; Herman Shumlin the director and producer.

The play deals with the return of a Louisiana Negro from the Pacific war with many decorations and an artificial leg. Formerly only a laborer, the army taught him how to operate an adding machine. His only thought is to return home and get a job in which he can use his new skill. But such jobs are for white folks. He gets turned down, becomes involved with a white man and is driven out of town. Recuperating up north, he makes up his mind to return and try his luck again in his home town despite the odds.

DIET AND HEALTH

Common Disease in Middle Age

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

DURING middle life and beyond, gallbladder disease occurs often. In fact, it seems to be the most common complaint of the middle-aged, affecting the upper part of the abdomen. The gallbladder disturbance may consist of inflammation of the gallbladder known as cholecystitis or there may also be gallstones present.

Cases of cholecystitis may be divided into two groups: those who get along all right with medical management alone; and, second, those who require surgery plus medical treatment.

Medical Treatment
According to Dr. Sidney F. Le-Bauer of Greensboro, North Carolina, medical treatment is given for those gallbladder patients who have discomfort in the right upper part of the abdomen together with symptoms of dyspepsia, including sickness of the stomach and vomiting.

He says nervous persons with no definite digestive symptoms or those who would not withstand an operation well should receive medical treatment alone, except, of course, if the infection is so acute as to require immediate operation. The object of the medical treatment is to stimulate the flow of the bile, to control infection, and to relieve the symptoms.

The first part of the treatment consists in the use of the proper diet. It should be designed so as to stimulate the gallbladder without producing any distress and to return the patient to his normal weight.

Types of Diet
No one type of diet will fit all patients with gallbladder disorder. For example, a thin person with weak abdominal muscles may be benefited by a high fat diet made up of small, frequent meals each day. The overweight person must be placed on a low calorie diet so that some weight will be lost. However, the fats should not be entirely omitted from the diet.

In addition, the diet should be of the non-irritating type. That is, it should contain no highly seasoned foods nor should it have too much roughage, as is supplied by such foods as whole-grain cereals and raw vegetables. However, enough bulk should be included to correct constipation.

Drugs Helpful

Certain drugs have proved helpful in the treatment of gallbladder disorder. The nitrates and theophylline seem to be effective in relieving the spasm of the muscles controlling the gallbladder ducts. The barbiturates, together with atropine, also seem to help in giving relief from symptoms.

Sometimes, small doses of sodium phosphate or magnesium sulfate have a relaxing effect on the muscles of the ducts. Bile salts, also, may be useful.

Thus, it would appear that many patients with gallbladder disease are benefited to a great extent by medical treatment.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. R. S.: The skin on my nose and cheeks is always red and breaks out with pimples. Is there any salve or medicine I can use to dry the area?

Answer: The disorder which you describe may be due to acne rosacea or some other skin condition. It would be best for you to consult a skin specialist as it is difficult to make a diagnosis of a skin disease without an examination. He will be able to determine exactly what disorder is present.

L. H.: Will you please tell me what the symptoms are of cirrhosis of the liver?

Answer: In cirrhosis of the liver, the liver may be either enlarged or decreased in size, depending upon the kind of cirrhosis present. Sometimes there is ascites, which means the collection of fluid in the abdominal cavities. Jaundice is also present in cases of cirrhosis of the liver.

STARS SAY—

For Monday, February 25

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is one in which a serious, profound and concentrated marshalling of the forces and faculties, may be the means of turning aside a difficult situation and opening the way for definite achievement in mending critical affairs as developing opportunities along the way of progress and expansion. Much reflection, logic and sound sense should bring about this happy condition. Be wise with contracts and propositions.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which a clever, serious and concentrated marshalling of all the forces, faculties, ideas and assets might break up certain critical or static conditions to make way for definite progress and production in possibly new fields where sound ambitions and constructive abilities support advanced objectives.

Much reflection, with sound resources and cautious handling of contracts and agreements might further cherished hopes and wishes. Push forward slowly, surely, but sagaciously.

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

JUSTICE HAD expected anger, a scene, a threat even, perhaps tears. Nothing of the sort. Jenny was as poised as a bird on a limb, and as unconcerned.

He said, stubbornly and feeling like an idiot, "Your sister and I met in Boston. Quite by accident. We had a drink together and—" "I hope it was a good drink," interrupted Jenny politely, "and only one. Ede prides herself on her woman-of-the-world attitude. That is what modeling in a dress shop does for you. But after she was married I remember Dick telling her, 'Stick to sherry, my girl, or one cocktail. Two makes you fuzzy.'"

Justice drew a deep breath. He said, "Are you trying to tell me you don't mind? I was under the impression that—" "Women," said Jenny, "love to make mountains out of molehills. They're engineers at heart. But, of course, I mind—in a way."

He was growing more and more bewildered, and looking at her as if he had never seen her before. "In what way?" he asked. She said, "I mind because Ede's married, and to a very fine guy." She looked at him steadily, her eyes as blue as the sea beyond the windows, and as deceptively calm. "I don't want to see him hurt. He isn't in a position to defend himself—from you, or from her. What she does wouldn't be my concern, if Dick weren't in the picture. But he is. Someone has to keep the well-known home fires burning. Besides," she added, "I don't think she's really serious about you, Mr. Hathaway. . . . I mean, of course, Justice. Mr. Hathaway sounds a little odd in so intimate a conversation. It has an unhand-me-sound."

He said, "Go on, Jenny."

"I interest you?" she asked. "No, I don't think so. I think she's in love with her husband. I think she's bored and lonely and you," she said frankly, "are the most attractive man in town."

"Well, thank you," said Justice. She said, "However, I don't particularly like you. I haven't since Saturday night. I hate being lied to. And you lied."

"By implication," she said serenely. "It was pretty crude, now that I look back. What's your sister's name? What does she hear from her husband? What's the difference in your ages? Things like that. . . . as if you had seen her only once or a cup of tea up at your place, the day of the club meeting."

He said, "I'm sorry, Jenny. I'm ashamed of myself. But it wouldn't have made sense any other way, would it?"

"I suppose not. I don't blame either of you for keeping it as quiet as you have. It doesn't put you in a very pleasant light. Nor her. Girl, Marine husband in the Pacific. Perhaps at this very moment—" She broke off. "My wife in England," she went on.

He said earnestly, "Jenny, I swear I never meant—" "Who does," she asked gravely. "Ede is angry with me," she told him. "You are."

"No," he said, and wasn't. "Angry," she said calmly, "because you've been found out." She lifted her hand and he saw for the first time what a small hand it was, how beautifully shaped, but somehow strong. "I don't want to know," she said clearly. "Not ever. WHAT I've found out. Not ever. But I don't like it. And I think you'll agree with me that it had better stop."

He said evenly, "It has."

She thought, He was tired of her, he has been for some time. She said slowly, "There was no excuse for either of you, Justice."

"No. Yet you have yourself told me Ede's excuse. Boredom, loneliness, accustomed to attention. She had known her husband only a short time and their time together was brief. It must often seem almost unreal to her, like a dream."

Quote, thought Jenny, unquote. I suppose Ede told him all that, at the beginning. And, in a way, it's true. Not that it makes it better. It makes it worse, she thought. Because if you know what's wrong with you and why you want to do something you shouldn't, that's the time to run away. . . . before you do.

He said, "You haven't heard my side."

"All right," said Jenny. "Time's awasting, but I'll listen."

"Thanks," He leaned back and looked away from her. He said slowly, "I met Andrea when I was in college. She was—different. Isn't your first love always different? Remote as a star, and as beautiful. I couldn't eat or sleep for thinking of her. I flunked several exams—I was always running to New York to see her and my father almost had a stroke. But when he met her he understood. It took me quite a while to marry her. I was around 25 when we married. She was 23. That was just over 10 years ago." He paused. "I was happy for a while. . . ."

Jenny asked, "And then?"

He said, "We had a son. Andrea had a difficult time when he was born. The doctors said it would be wise if she had more children. It was a great grief to her." He added, "She was so very maternal."

He looked at Jenny. "You wouldn't understand," he said, and she remembered Ede telling her, "You can't understand." Why did they

He added, "She was so very maternal."

He looked at Jenny. "You wouldn't understand," he said, and she remembered Ede telling her, "You can't understand." Why did they treating her as if she were a child? You didn't have to go through experiences to understand them, did you? If so, there'd be few writers. She said, as she had said to Ede, "Till try."

"There are women," he said, "who fall in love because they want children. They don't know it. They think it's the man they want. But when a child is born all the love turns to it and the man is relegated to his proper place. He has accomplished his mission. Andrea was fond of me. But the boy was her sun and her moon, her world and her stars. I don't mean she spoiled him. She is far too intelligent. But he was hers. Exclusively. Possessively. I didn't rate. She was to have another child. She had ideas about little use for me, except as an escort. A bread-winner, a man around the house, the father of her son." He paused, and said, after a moment, "I'm sorry, Jenny. But I have to make you understand."

Jenny was scarlet. She cursed her thin skin, the tricks and vagaries of her blood. She could take it. She was grown up. He continued: "When a man knows he isn't wanted, he goes where he is—that's life, Jenny. You may not like the idea, but, well, it's the way things are. These other women, Andrea didn't like it. That's the funny, too, but, also, life. You don't want someone, yet you don't want other women to want him. Silly, isn't it? We had a pretty bad quarrel. We were reconciled, because of the boy. I wrote him to what had been a merely amusing and not very serious chapter, and we went away for a short trip. Andrea didn't want to go, to leave David. She said, if we went we must take him and the nurse. I couldn't see it that way. Anyway, we went, and he was taken ill. . . ."

He paused. He said, "We got back in time to see him die."

Jenny's eyes were suffused with tears. She didn't like this man, she disliked and even feared him. She feared him because she could still feel the pull of his attraction. But like him or not, she could think only of the distracted woman, the unhappy man, the child.

He said gently, "Thank you, Jenny."

After a moment she said, "But surely she didn't blame you?"

"Yes," he said harshly. "If we hadn't gone away she would have recognized the symptoms in time, nurse or no nurse. . . . something would have been done, the boy would have lived. Or so she believes."

He sighed. "After that," he said, "we went our own ways. Her way was in the slums, working for and with children. Mine was. . . well, you can imagine."

"The Authority on Authorities"

COUNT, ADD, SUBTRACT

COUNTING THE known cards in a suit, held by various players, next adding their amounts together and then subtracting that total from 13—that simple process constitutes about half of the entire procedure known as "card reading." By doing that, you sometimes can tell positively that a certain player holds a singleton ace, king or queen. You can then cash in on that information by dropping a lower honor with a higher one, or by using a small card to force out an ace, thereby saving your own secondary high cards.

Identical bidding came on this deal at two tables of a duplicate tournament, and in each case West led the spade 2. Both declarers played the spade Q from dummy to tempt a cover by the K. At one table East fell for that, and the A killed his honor. Next that declarer led the heart Q to the K, and the diamond 2 came back, bringing the J, K and A. The diamond 6 was led to the Q, and the spade J brought a discard of South's last diamond.

The diamond 5 was ruffed by East's 7 and was over-ruffed by the 8. South then reckoned thus: "West surely had four hearts for his double. I have six, so that leaves no more than three for East; to have bid as he did he must have had the heart A, which would now be singleton, since he has played hearts to two tricks." So he led his heart 2, not his K, and forced out the A. East scored his club A, and led the 5 for West to ruff. The spade 8 return was ruffed by the heart 4. The conserved heart J now dropped the 10, and the last two tricks were taken by the heart 9 and club K.

At the other table, S. Garton Churchill, a fine defensive player, in the East read the spade 2 lead as showing exactly four cards, with South having just one. This was sure would be the A, because West would have led the A if he had it. So when the Q was played from dummy, Churchill played low. That enabled him to prevent a diamond discard later on the spade J and beat the contract.

SQUIRRELS AND PEOPLE

TWO squirrels come every day all winter to the feeding station. They gorge themselves on the nuts set out, eat much of the corn placed for the cardinals and then proceed to take away in their cheeks every nut left after their stomachs are full. They must have a tremendous cache of nuts somewhere, more than they can ever consume.

People are close kin to squirrels. Consider stockings. A hosiery company president said the other day that enough nylon hose are being made to supply every woman in America, but only comparatively few are getting them, because some women are hoarding. Many department stores dare not place nylons on sale because they fear riots. So they have instituted elaborate systems of distributing to a preferred list generally of charge customers. The woman with a charge account in eight stores can get eight pairs of hose. A cash-paying woman goes barelegged or wears cotton hose, since rayons are temporarily lacking.

The stocking manufacturer says nylon and rayon hose will continue scarce for another year unless women stop being squirrels. It is the same with other items. White flour suddenly has become almost non-procurable. A department store in Newark, N. J., had to close when a stampeding mob battled for shirts.

Squirrels are not expected to know any better. But people?

CELESTIAL VISITS

"BLESS me, this is pleasant, riding on a rail," was the burden of an old and almost forgotten ditty which, if memory runs true, referred to riding in a train pulled by a primitive locomotive. But that travel was nothing, in comparison with the celestial locomotion forecast by Dr. Carl K. Seyfert, assistant professor of astronomy at Case School of Applied Science, in Cleveland.

He predicts that we may expect, within a few years, to establish contact with Venus, across a gap of 26,000,000 miles. That is not far, apparently, as planets go; and since the word "planet" itself means "wanderer", it seems as if we might expect a nod of recognition almost any time from this charming Venus person. Anyway, ten years is not long to wait, as time goes in the celestial regions.

A good motto for these times is the Shakespearean advice, "Put money in thy purse." But what Shakespeare meant was to save it.

UP AND DOWN BROADWAY

By JACK GAYER

NEW YORK, Feb. 25—The cocktail party trotters of New York's literary and entertainment sets owe Ilka Chase a vote of thanks. She gets to her parties on time.

Yesterday afternoon was my second party experience with the actress-author, and as on the first occasion, she was right there when the first dog was hung. I stress this as a redeeming trait because at most such affairs, especially those involving Hollywood personalities, the guests of honor think it improper to show up until an hour or an hour and a half after the scheduled starting time.

Sometimes this is a neat dodge for being able to rush in, do a fast five minutes of introductions and then beat it on the plea of the lateness of the hour and other engagements. Also the tardy arrival does not get a chance to make an "entrance."

Miss Chase was honored by her publisher, Doubleday, for her just-published novel, "I Love Miss Tilli Bean," which is my personal nomination for the year's most engaging name for a person and the ditto book title. It's a tale of the fashionable dressmaking world, which Miss Chase

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—In complete official privacy, the state department has spent some weeks getting up a new statement of American foreign policy. The only great question of policy, of course, is how to treat Russia. On this, the paper was not illuminating in its original form.

The Byrnes policy established at Moscow and London since mid-December, has been substantially this: Press no point which would be offensive to Russian claims. Retreat on policy as much as possible and accept Russian contentions. The apparent but not professed purpose has been to entice Russia out of her nationalistic isolation into dealing in the world of affairs.

This has kept world news rather calm but events behind the news, particularly from Europe, are working up boldly and may break sensationally. Do not, for instance, let yourself be currently misled into believing the domination of the French government by Communists and Socialists is a permanent arrangement, or that the name of De Gaulle will remain forever in retirement from French politics.

Give greater notice than has been given to the victory of the Belgian Catholic party over both Communists and Socialists. Belgium is half French, with all the same elements of French politics in miniature. Indeed throughout Europe, even in Yugoslavia, the resistance to Communism is taking the only effective form yet evidenced in the gathering together of Catholic elements.

I have heard American statesmen say these Christian groups are the only ones in the world today who know how to resist communism, ideologically or politically. These groups have a firm ideology themselves.

Britain was the first nation to talk up to the Soviets, but the diplomatic resistance of Bevin at the London UNO conference was tactical rather than formidable. The Russians had raised the question of British influence in Greece, primarily to cover their own tracks in Poland, the Balkans, Iran, Turkey and other places where they are attempting to extend their influence.

They forced Britain to the defensive by raising this question. After accomplishing this purpose, and succeeding in getting UNO to allow Moscow to deal separately with a pro-Communism Iranian Prime Minister installed at Tehran for the purpose—Russia withdrew her Greek charges against Bevin. The Indonesian charges she continued to press, keeping Britain on the defensive.

The common current belief that Bevin may have found a way of treating with Moscow therefore is unjustified. He twice passed "the lie" to them and they backed down, true enough. But when you add up the results, you will see Russia won the action she wanted from UNO, while Bevin won nothing except the red herring. Emulation of Bevin by us, then, would not answer the question of how to deal with Moscow.

President Truman, meanwhile, is recognizing that the Army seeks to know how to get along with the Soviets, without losing their shirts, better than our timid and confused diplomats. He chose General Mar-

Miss Chase is prepping now for a lecture which will occupy her time until Summer. After that there may be a new play of her own authorship.

The party brought one of those amusing sidelights which frequently adorn such affairs. Invited were two middle-aged women who are among the foremost in the field of radio personalities. One of them, who fancied herself rather close to Doubleday, stormed in berating the publicity people because they had permitted Miss Chase to be interviewed yesterday on her rival's program. The rival came later and it became the task of the publicity people to keep the two separated by the width of the well-filled room.

DIET AND HEALTH

Common Disease in Middle Age

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

DURING middle life and beyond, gallbladder disease occurs often. In fact, it seems to be the most common complaint of the middle-aged, affecting the upper part of the abdomen. The gallbladder disturbance may consist of inflammation of the gallbladder known as cholecystitis or there may also be gallstones present. Cases of cholecystitis may be divided into two groups: those who get along all right with medical management alone; and, second, those who require surgery plus medical treatment.

Medical Treatment
According to Dr. Sidney F. LeBauer of Greensboro, North Carolina, medical treatment is given for those gallbladder patients who have discomfort in the right upper part of the abdomen together with symptoms of dyspepsia, including sickness of the stomach and vomiting.

He says nervous persons with no definite digestive symptoms or those who would not withstand an operation will also receive medical treatment alone, except, of course, if the infection is so acute as to require immediate operation. The object of the medical treatment is to stimulate the flow of the bile, to control infection, and to relieve the symptoms. The first part of the treatment consists in the use of the proper diet. It should be designed so as to stimulate the gallbladder without producing any distress and to return the patient to his normal weight.

No one type of diet will fit all patients with gallbladder disorder. For example, a thin person with weak abdominal muscles may be benefited by a high fat diet made up of small, frequent meals each day. The overweight person must be placed on a low calorie diet so that some weight will be lost. However, the fats should not be entirely omitted from the diet.

In addition, the diet should be of the non-irritating type. That is, it should contain no highly seasoned foods nor should it have too much roughage, as is supplied by such foods as whole-grain cereals and raw vegetables. However, enough bulk should be included to correct constipation.

Drugs Helpful

Certain drugs have proven helpful in the treatment of gallbladder disorder. The nitrates and theophylline seem to be effective in relieving the spasm of the muscles controlling the gallbladder ducts. The barbiturates, together with atropine, also seem to help in giving relief from symptoms.

Sometimes, small doses of sodium phosphate or magnesium sulfate have a relaxing effect on the muscles of the ducts. Bile salts, also, may be useful.

Thus, it would appear that many patients with gallbladder disease are benefited to a great extent by medical treatment.

STARS SAY—

For Monday, February 25

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is one in which a serious, profound and concentrated marshaling of the forces and faculties, may be the means of turning aside a difficult situation and opening the way for definite achievement in mending critical affairs as development opportunities along the way of progress and expansion. Much reflection, logic and sound sense should bring about this happy condition. Be wise with contracts and propositions.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which a clever, serious and concentrated marshaling of all the forces, faculties, ideas and assets might break up certain critical or static conditions to make way for definite progress and production in possibly new fields where sound ambitions and constructive abilities support advanced objectives.

Much reflection, with sound resources and cautious handling of contracts and agreements might further cherished hopes and wishes. Push forward slowly, surely, but sagaciously.

A child born on this day has much ability and ambition. It should enjoy a successful career

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

JUSTICE HAD expected anger, a scene, a threat even, perhaps tears. Nothing of the sort. Jenny was as poised as a bird on a limb, and as unconcerned.

He said, stubbornly and feeling like an idiot, "Your sister and I met in Boston. Quite by accident. We had a drink together and—" "I hope it was a good drink," interrupted Jenny politely, "and only one. Ede prides herself on her woman-of-the-world attitude. That is what modeling in a dress shop does for you. But after she was married I remember Dick telling her, 'Stick to sherry, my girl, or one cocktail. Two makes you fuzzy.'"

Justice drew a deep breath. He said, "Are you trying to tell me you don't mind? I was under the impression that—" "Women," said Jenny, "love to make mountains out of molehills. They're engineers at heart. But, of course, I mind—in a way."

He was growing more and more bewildered, and looking at her as if he had never seen her before. "In what way?" he asked. She said, "I mind because Ede's married, and to a very fine guy." She looked at him steadily, her eyes as blue as the sea beyond the windows, and as deceptively calm. "I don't want to see him hurt. He isn't in a position to defend himself—from you, or from her. What she does wouldn't be my concern, if Dick weren't in the picture. But he is. Someone has to keep the well-known home fires burning. Besides," she added, "I don't think she's really serious about you. Mr. Hathaway—... I mean, of course, Justice. Mr. Hathaway sounds a little odd in so intimate a conversation. It has an unhand-me sound—"

He said, "Go on, Jenny." "I interpret you?" she asked. "No, I don't think so. I think she's in love with her husband. I think she's bored and lonely and you," she said frankly, "are the most attractive man in town."

"Well, thanks," said Justice. She said, "However, I don't particularly like you. I haven't seen Saturday night. I hate being lied to. And you lied."

"By implication," she said serenely. "It was pretty crude, now that I look back. What's your sister's name? What does she hear from her husband? What's the difference in your ages? Things like that... as if you had seen her only over a cup of tea up at your place, the day of the club meeting."

He said, "I'm sorry, Jenny. I'm ashamed of myself. But it wouldn't have made sense any other way, would it?" "I suppose not. I don't blame either of you," she said.

"No," he said, and wasn't. "Angry," she said calmly, "because you've been found out." She lifted her hand and he saw for the first time what a small hand it was, how beautifully shaped, but somehow strong. "I don't want to know," she said clearly, "exactly WHAT I've found out. Not ever. But I don't like it. And I think you'll agree with me that it had better stop."

He said evenly, "It has." She thought, He was tired of her. He has been for some time. She said slowly, "There was no excuse for either of you, Justice."

"No. Yet you have yourself told me Ede's excuse. Boredom, loneliness. She's young, she's very pretty and accustomed to attention. She had known her husband only a short time and their time together was brief. It must often seem to most unreal to her, like a dream."

Quote, thought Jenny, unquote. I suppose Ede told him all that, at the beginning. And, in a way, it's true. Not that it makes it better. It makes it worse, she thought. Because if you know what's wrong with you and why you want to do something you shouldn't, that's the time to run away... before you do.

He said, "You haven't heard my side."

"All right," said Jenny. "Time's awasting, but I'll listen."

"Thanks," he leaned back and looked away from her. He said slowly, "I met Andrea when I was in college. She was—different. Isn't your first love always different? Remote as a star, and as beautiful. I couldn't eat or sleep for thinking of her. I flunked several examinations—I was always running to New York to see her and my father almost had a stroke. But when he met her he understood. It took me quite a while to marry her. I was around 25 when we married. She was 23. That was just over 10 years ago." He paused. "I was happy for a while..."

Jenny asked, "And then?" He said, "We had a son. Andrea had a difficult time when he was born. The doctors said it would be wise if she had no more children. It was a great grief to her. He added, "She was so very maternal. He looked at Jenny. "You wouldn't understand," he said, and she remembered Ede telling her, "You can't understand." Why did they Jenny's eyes were suffused with tears. She didn't like this man, she disliked and even feared him. She feared him because she could still feel the pull of his attraction. But like him or not, she could think only of the distracted woman, the unhappy man, the child.

He said gently, "Thank you, Jenny."

After a moment she said, "But surely she didn't blame you?" "Yes," he said harshly. "If we hadn't gone away she would have recognized the symptoms in time, nurse or no nurse... something would have been done, the boy would have lived. Or so she believes."

"There are women," he said, "who fall in love because they want children. They don't know it. They think it's the man they want. But when a child is born the love turns to it and the man is related to his proper place. He has accomplished his mission. Andrea was fond of me. But the boy was her sun and her moon, her world and her stars. I don't mean she spoiled him. She is far too intelligent. But he was hers. Exclusively. Possessively. I didn't rate. She was not to have another child. She had therefore little use for me, except as an escort, a bread-winner, a man around the house, the father of her son." He paused, and said, after a moment, "I'm sorry, Jenny. But I have to make you understand."

Jenny was scarlet. She cursed her thin skin, the tricks and vagaries of her blood. She could take it. She was grown up. He continued: "When a man knows he isn't wanted, he goes where he is—that's life, Jenny. You may not like the idea but, well, it's the way things are. There are other women. Andrea didn't like it. That's funny, too, but, also, life. You don't want someone, yet you don't want other women to want him. Silly, isn't it? We had a pretty bad quarrel. We were reconciled, because of the boy. I wrote him to what had been a merely amusing and not very serious chapter, and we went away for a short trip. Andrea didn't want to go, to leave David. She said, if we went we must take him and the nurse. I couldn't see it that way. Anyway, we went, and he was taken ill."

He paused. He said, "We got back in time to see him die."

Kinderhook Couple Wed 54 Years, Celebrate

Daughters' Home In Columbus Is Scene Of Affair

"THINKING DAY" CELEBRATED BY LOCAL SCOUTS

A family dinner party at the home of their daughter, Mrs. George Wise, 847 Montrose Ave. Bexley, Sunday noon, marked the celebration of the 54th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Puffinberger of Kinderhook. Present for the dinner were the honor guests, their children Mr. and Mrs. John Puffinberger, daughters Virginia and Mary Alice, Mrs. Ida Ware, Mr. and Mrs. Wise and their children Barbara and Bobby and guests Kenneth Wright and Paul Schein, of Williamsport.

During the afternoon open house was held for the friends of the couple who have lived their entire married life in the same vicinity. About thirty guests called during the hours of 3 to 5 p. m. recalling to the couple incidents of the long past. For the afternoon the buffet from which the guests were served was centered with a bouquet of yellow daffodils and lighted with tall yellow tapers in crystal holders. Wedding gifts were showered on the couple who received their guests and recalled the day of the wedding 54 years ago.

The Rev. Isaac Brashers, pastor of the Mt. Pleasant Methodist church officiated at the wedding which was performed in the presence of about 30 guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell of near Kinderhook, the parents of Mrs. Puffinberger. E. C. Rector of near Williamsport was the best man and Miss Jeanette Puffinberger, now living at Point Pleasant, W. Va. acted as bridesmaid for the then Miss Campbell.

Mrs. Puffinberger recalls that her bridal gown was of gray silk made in the style of that day with extremely full skirt, a bustle and long tight sleeves. She wore a small gray hat too, trimmed in feathers.

Following their marriage they started housekeeping in Kinderhook where Mr. Puffinberger was Postmaster and proprietor of the general store.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Puffinberger are well and enjoying good health.

Sewing Club Gives Gift To Member On Birthday Anniversary

Mrs. Mary W. Stevens was a guest when members of the Magic Sewing Club met at the home of Mrs. Russell Skaggs, E. Union street for their regular meeting. The earlier part of the evening was spent in sewing and social visiting. During this informal hour Mrs. John A. Grubb was presented with a remembrance from the members in recognition of her birthday anniversary.

Euchre was played during the remainder of the evening with Mrs. Gladden Troutman and Mrs. Grubb being score winners.

Mrs. Skaggs assisted by Mrs. Mabel Westenhaver served a desert course to the guests.

Girl Scouts of Circleville and Pickaway County attended a very impressive ceremony conducted and planned by Mrs. Walter Heine in commemoration of the Girl Scout "Thinking Day" at headquarters Friday afternoon. This was in the form of a vesper service.

From the time the girls marched into the beautifully decorated and candle-lighted assembly room at headquarters, there was no conversation among them, no announcements. Mrs. Vaden Couch played the accompaniments and the prelude, as Mrs. Heine gave the meditation, the senior scouts collected attractively wrapped gift boxes containing the Juliette Low contribution from each troop and placed them on the table below the portrait of Mrs. Low.

"Around the world Girl Scouts and Guides in many lands keep February 22 as 'Thinking Day' when with one accord they think of each other as friends," said Mrs. Heine. "Our theme is 'Thought is a wind, knowledge the sail, mankind the vessel.' 'Thinking Day' has remained the practice of Girl Scouts everywhere in spite of wars. Today the Girl Scouts in the United States and other countries which have escaped the physical ravages of war are giving tangible expression of thought in the way of gifts of necessities to their less fortunate neighbors. Pennies contributed to the Juliette Low World Friendship fund by Girl Scouts in the United States have helped many Girl Scouts in war torn areas. For example ten thousand blankets have been purchased and allocated according to need; 200 pairs of stockings to Holland, soap to Italy, where Girl Scout movement had been banned for seventeen years, socks and berets to Luxembourg, yarn and knitting needles to Polish girls still in misplaced persons camps in Europe. Woolen uniform materials to France, Denmark and Holland has been allocated according to need and membership; money to Guides in Greece, Britain, and China."

In all of these gifts Pickaway Girl Scouts are enthusiastically giving their share to promote world friendship. In addition to the Juliette Low contribution, each troop has prepared ten "friendship bags" in a variety of colors, some fringed, some not, containing some of the little necessities difficult to obtain in war-torn countries—needles, pins, thread, pencils, combs, buttons, tooth brushes and paste, bobby pins, hair ribbons, hard candies, small games, wash cloths.

In addition each bag contains a postcard or snapshot and names and addresses of donors. Ten of each of these go to each country chosen by the troop, which studies the customs, dress, history and description of the country as part of the project. In addition to that, a costume of the native dress of a girl of each country is made and worn by a member of each troop for the March Birthday Celebration. These costumes will become the property of the Girl Scout organization to be used at future dates in international Girl Scout celebrations.

Kinderhook Couple Wed 54 Years, Celebrate

Daughters' Home In Columbus Is Scene Of Affair

A family dinner party at the home of their daughter, Mrs. George Wise, 847 Montrose Ave. Bexley, Sunday noon, marked the celebration of the 54th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Puffinberger of Kinderhook. Present for the dinner were the honor guests, their children Mr. and Mrs. John Puffinberger, daughters Virginia and Mary Alice, Mrs. Ida Ware, Mr. and Mrs. Wise and their children Barbara and Bobby and guests Kenneth Wright and Paul Schein, of Williamsport.

During the afternoon open house was held for the friends of the couple who have lived their entire married life in the same vicinity. About thirty guests called during the hours of 3 to 5 p. m. recalling to the couple incidents of the long past. For the afternoon the buffet from which the guests were served was centered with a bouquet of yellow daffodils and lighted with tall yellow tapers in crystal holders. Wedding gifts were showered on the couple who received their guests and recalled the day of the wedding 54 years ago.

The Rev. Isaac Brashers, pastor of the Mt. Pleasant Methodist church officiated at the wedding which was performed in the presence of about 30 guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell of near Kinderhook, the parents of Mrs. Puffinberger. E. C. Rector of near Williamsport was the best man and Miss Jeanette Puffinberger, now living at Point Pleasant, W. Va. acted as bridesmaid for the then Miss Campbell.

Mrs. Puffinberger recalls that her bridal gown was of gray silk made in the style of that day with extremely full skirt, a bustle and long tight sleeves. She wore a small gray hat too, trimmed in feathers.

Following their marriage they started housekeeping in Kinderhook where Mr. Puffinberger was Postmaster and proprietor of the general store.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Puffinberger are well and enjoying good health.

Sewing Club Gives Gift To Member On Birthday Anniversary

Mrs. Mary W. Stevens was a guest when members of the Magic Sewing Club met at the home of Mrs. Russell Skaggs, E. Union street for their regular meeting. The earlier part of the evening was spent in sewing and social visiting. During this informal hour Mrs. John A. Grubb was presented with a remembrance from the members in recognition of her birthday anniversary.

Euchre was played during the remainder of the evening with Mrs. Gladden Troutman and Mrs. Grubb being score winners.

Mrs. Skaggs assisted by Mrs. Mabel Westenhaver served a dessert course to the guests.

"THINKING DAY" CELEBRATED BY LOCAL SCOUTS

Girl Scouts of Circleville and Pickaway County attended a very impressive ceremony conducted and planned by Mrs. Walter Heine in commemoration of the Girl Scout "Thinking Day" at headquarters Friday afternoon. This was in the form of a vesper service.

From the time the girls marched into the beautifully decorated and candle-light assembly room at headquarters, there was no conversation among them, no announcements. Mrs. Vaden Couch played the accompaniment and the prelude, as Mrs. Heine gave the meditation, the senior scouts collected attractively wrapped gift boxes containing the Juliette Low contribution from each troop and piled them on the table below the portrait of Mrs. Low.

"Around the world Girl Scouts and Guides in many lands keep February 22 as 'Thinking Day' when with one accord they think of each other as friends," said Mrs. Heine. "Our theme is 'Thought is a wind, knowledge the sail, mankind the vessel.' 'Thinking Day' has remained the practice of Girl Scouts everywhere in spite of wars. Today the Girl Scouts in the United States and other countries which have escaped the physical ravages of war are giving tangible expression of thought in the way of gifts of necessities to their less fortunate neighbors. Pennies contributed to the Juliette Low World Friendship fund by Girl Scouts in the United States have helped many Girl Scouts in war torn areas. For example ten thousand blankets have been purchased and allocated according to need; 200 pairs of stockings to Holland, soap to Italy, where Girl Scout movement had been banned for seventeen years, socks and berets to Luxembourg, yarn and knitting needles to Polish girls still in misplaced persons camps in Europe. Woolen uniform materials to France, Denmark and Holland has been allocated according to need and membership; money to Guides in Greece, Britain, and China."

In all of these gifts Pickaway Girl Scouts are enthusiastically giving their share to promote world friendship. In addition to the Juliette Low contribution, each troop has prepared ten "friendship bags" in a variety of colors, some fringed, some not, containing some of the little necessities difficult to obtain in war-torn countries—needles, pins, thread, pencils, combs, buttons, tooth brushes and paste, bobby pins, hair ribbons, hard candies, small games, wash cloths.

In addition each bag contains a postcard or snapshot and names and addresses of donors. Ten of each of these go to each country chosen by the troop, which studies the customs, dress, history and description of the country as part of the project. In addition to that, a

W. C. T. U. Meeting Held At Naumanns

Mrs. Charles Naumann entertained the members of the Circleville W. C. T. U. Friday afternoon at her home, South Washington street. Mrs. Lawrence Warner, president, was in charge of the meeting which was devoted to the memory of Frances E. Willard.

Mrs. Naumann led in prayer which opened the short business session during which the members expressed their appreciation of the stand that the city council has taken against the selling of liquor on Sundays.

For the program, Mrs. Harry Gard read a story of the life of Frances Willard and Mrs. C. O. Kerns read a story of George Washington. Mrs. Fremont Mangum also contributed to the program.

Mrs. Naumann was assisted in serving a dessert course by Mrs. Elizabeth Paterson.

Society Pledge To Bring Guest To Meet

The Ladies Aid of the Evangelical church met at the home of Mrs. Andrew W. Goeller, East Mound street, Friday night. Miss Goldie Noggle read the 46th Psalm followed by prayer by Mrs. Edward Bost. Each member pledged to bring a guest to the next meeting. Plans were made for future programs.

Young People Meet For Church Party

Forty members of the Young People's Department of the Methodist church enjoyed a party in the church basement Sunday night. The boys, losers in an attendance match, sponsored the party at which the girls were guests.

Rod Heine, president of the Youth Fellowship, explained the system of the origin of the organization by which all members of the Young People's department are automatically members of the Youth Fellowship and that he hoped to see all present at the next meeting of the Youth Fellowship.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Vaden Couch, counselors. Mr. Couch was in charge of the entertainment for the party, Bob Steele, refreshments, Bob McCoy, decorations, and James Lytle, finance.

Walnut Needle Club Meets At Hite Home

When the Walnut Needle club met at the home of Mrs. John Hite eleven members were present. Visitors included Mrs. Cynthia Struble of Ashville, Mrs. Nelson Bell, Circleville, and Mrs. Samuel Baugh, of Columbus.

After a pleasant afternoon which was spent in sewing and visiting a two-course dinner was served.

The club will meet at the home of Mrs. Gale F. Hanover, near Ashville, in March.

ARTHUR-LEWIS FIGHT WILL BE 10-ROUND BOUT

Wednesday Night Card Will Offer 28 Rounds Of Boxing, Five Events

Promoter Gene Rinehart has made a few changes in the boxing card which he will offer in Memorial Hall Wednesday night.

The main event will be a ten-round affair instead of the six rounds previously planned. It will bring together Bob (Galento) Arthur, the 210-pounder who kayaked Johnny Alexander in 12 seconds in his last appearance here, and Eddie Lewis, 195-pound Springfield, O., flash.

Both Boys Promising Both of these boys are promising heavies. Lewis is noted for his ability to absorb punishment and then put over a knockout punch. It was at the insistence of Lewis that the match was lengthened to ten rounds. He confidently expects to wear down the larger Arthur and take him in the closing rounds. Lewis has won his last five fights and is reported in excellent condition.

Arthur, who held both the Golden and Silver Gloves championships of Ohio as an amateur middleweight and light heavyweight, also is renowned for his stamina. He is a pupil of Willie Holmes, popular welterweight of a quarter century ago and trainer of some of the best fighters to come out of the middle west in the last decade.

Dubbed Galento because of his ring characteristics, Arthur has won 40 fights, lost two and tied four since turning professional. One of the highlights of his career was his bout with Frankie Gerome, Indiana heavyweight champ. Gerome put Arthur on the canvas four times in the first round, but the big fellow came back to win by a knockout. He has since knocked out the only two men to whom he lost, Lou Thomas and Johnny Dennison.

Winner Take All Arthur and Lewis will fight for a purse of $100 on a winner-take-all basis.

In the six-round semi-final, Johnny Hughes of Chillicothe will meet Eddie Reynolds, of Columbus. Both boys are promising light heavyweights with good records. Rinehart, when interviewed Sunday night, had completed contracts on only two of the three four-round preliminaries which he will offer. In the first of these, Ted Montana, 133 pounds, of Columbus, will meet Billy Sells, 135 pounds, also of Columbus. Both boys are promising lightweights.

The second preliminary pits Dwight Bayless, of Chillicothe, a stablemate of Johnny Hughes, against Willard Rice, of Mt. Vernon. Bayless weighs 165 pounds and is making his first ring appearance since his discharge from the Army. Rice weighs 170 pounds and is also an ex-service man.

The third preliminary is yet to be signed. Rinehart is seeking a worthy opponent for Al Reeves of Columbus, brother of the renowned Alabama Kid. Reeves is a comer and has shown great promise in his last few bouts.

gram will feature Honey and the Bees, Jane Wilson, Joan Wheatley, Stuart Churchill, Gordon Goodman, Joe Sodia and Jimmy Atkins.
JERRY COLONNA HONORED
When the Andrews Sisters show, "N-K Musical Showroom," takes to the air Wednesday, famous "stooge" Jerry Colonna will be on hand to recreate his immortal hit, "You're My Everything," and receive the Green Room Award. The Andrews Sisters, to the accompaniment of Vic

Schoen's orchestra, will offer
"Personality," "Pennies From Heaven," and "Tippie Tin." Baritone Curt Massey will present
"I Can't Begin To Tell You," and in duet with Patty Andrews, "Onezy, Two-zy."
CHURCH BUILDER HONORED
A "Big Little American," employed in San Francisco and residing in Berkeley, Calif., who started a church building fund with the price of a haircut, will be given a coast-to-coast salute over more than 300 stations on "Songs by Morton Downey" Wednesday.

He is Frank A. Sibilla, head barber of one of San Francisco's leading hotels. Three years ago the Vic of St. Alban's—a small church which was conducting services in a store—called at Mr.
Sibilla's home one evening for a haircut. He explained his ambitions to establish a church in a better edifice and the barber refused to accept a fee for his services suggesting that the fifty-cents be used to start the fund.

G. I. Loans Expected To Spur Business and Realty Boom Here

AMENDED RULES GIVE 25 YEARS AT 4 PERCENT

New Regulations To Become Effective March 1: U. S. Guarantees 50 Pct.

Home buying and business ventures on the part of discharged service men are expected to reach a "boom" stage in the near future in Circleville.

The reason is that new and simplified regulations of the federal government pertaining to GI loans are scheduled to arrive at Circleville banks and lending agencies within the next two weeks.

Bankers said that the original regulations governing GI loans were quite complicated and that as a result the negotiation of loans to war veterans was slowed considerably.

Effective March 1
The new regulations become effective March 1 and they will permit a veteran to obtain a four percent loan for 25 years. Such a loan never before was possible, the bankers asserted.

It is probable, however, that full information will not be in the hands of Circleville bankers in time to handle loan applications until some time after March 1.

In connection with home-building plans of war veterans, it was explained, shortages of building materials likely will hamper home construction work for at least six months, and adequate supplies will probably be unavailable for about two years.

New Provisions
Some of the provisions of the amended GI loan law are:

The loan application must be acceptable to the lending agency.

Some loans will require a substantial cash deposit.

A bank or other lending agency is not compelled to make a loan.

Any man who served in the armed forces any time after Sept. 16, 1940, and was honorably discharged after at least 90 days of service or by reason of disability incurred in the line of duty will be eligible for a guaranteed GI loan.

Only 50 Pct. Guaranteed
Uncle Sam will guarantee GI loans but the guarantee cannot exceed 50 percent of the total amount.

The maximum loan is $4,000 for real estate and $2,000 for non-real estate, but a veteran may make a combined loan.

GI loans may be made by any bank, building and loan association, insurance company, credit union, or mortgage loan company.

FOREIGN ASSETS IN U. S. AMOUNT TO 14 BILLIONS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—Foreign countries owned assets in the United States valued at some $14,000,000,000 at the end of 1944, the treasury department reported today.

It added that this represented an increase of approximately $1,250,000,000 over foreign holdings in this country in June, 1941.

The figures did not include gold earmarked for foreign accounts which increased from $1,196,000,000 to $3,937,000,000 during the 3½ year period.

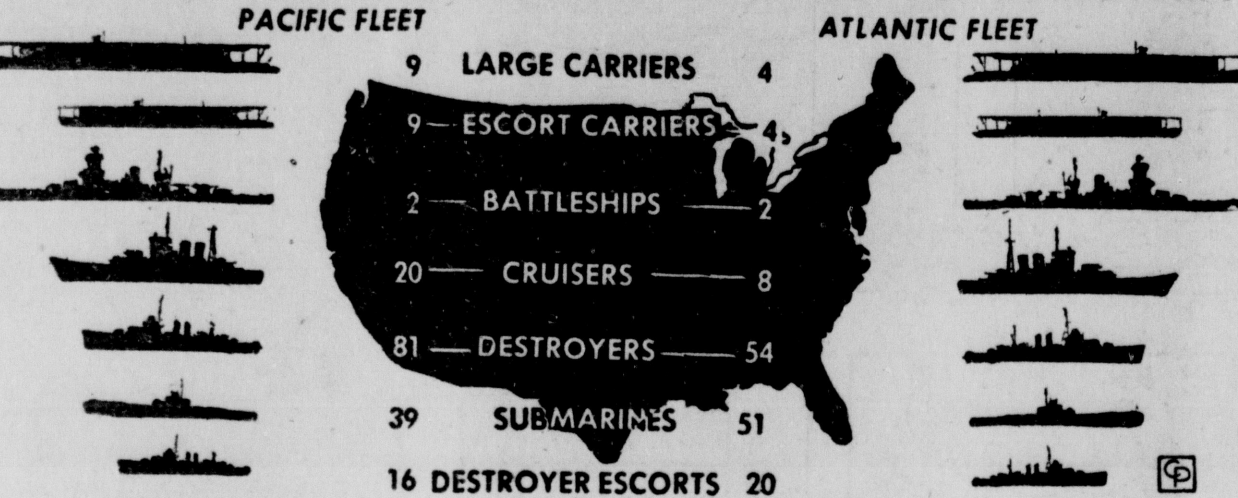

Total foreign deposits in U. S. banks at the end of 1944 amounted to $4,031,000,000, an increase of $373,000,000 from the 1941 level. During the period foreign countries purchased more than $1,250,000,000 of short-term government securities.

BROWNELL OUT AS G. O. P. BOSS

Party Chiefs Hunt Successor As Chairman Resigns Effective April 1

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—Prominent Republicans both in and out of congress were mentioned today as possible successors to Herbert Brownell, Jr., as chairman of the Republican national committee.

GOP sources reported that Brownell, who took over the chairmanship at the party's 1944 national convention at Chicago, had resigned effective April 1. He was understood to be anxious to devote more time to his law practice in New York.

Quick Action Sought
Republican leaders in congress were eager for speedy action on a successor to prepare the party for the crucial 1946 congressional elections, in which they have high hopes of winning control of the house. Brownell conferred with a group of them here yesterday.

GOP sources said no definite choice had been made but that consideration had been given to Sen. Kenneth Wherry, Neb., Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, Mich., Rep. Charles Halleck, Ind., and Rep. Clarence J. Brown, O. Speculation also touched upon

Salary Basis Likely
It was believed possible that choice of a successor might be accompanied with a GOP decision to put the chairmanship back on a full-time salary basis. The only paid chairman in the recent past was John D. M. Hamilton who served from 1936 to 1940 at $25,000 a year.

Brownell once was offered $50,000 a year but preferred to serve on a part time, non-salaried basis. Many Republicans still favor the $50,000 figure.

TERMITES Can Be Controlled

Tremendous damage to buildings is caused by termites every year. You can protect your property by using WOODHEALTH. Termites can not live in wood properly protected with WOODHEALTH. In addition to applying WOODHEALTH to vulnerable woods the soil around infested buildings should be treated, as subterranean termites must have regular contact with the soil to live. This is a job you can do yourself easily and inexpensively—full directions are on the label.

WOODHEALTH contains a special blend of approved toxicants for soil treatment.

Other wood destroying insects can be just as easily killed by proper WOODHEALTH treatment.

G. I. Loans Expected To Spur Business and Realty Boom Here

AMENDED RULES GIVE 25 YEARS AT 4 PERCENT

New Regulations To Become Effective March 1: U. S.
Guarantees 50 Pct.

Home buying and business ventures on the part of discharged service men are expected to reach a "boom" stage in the near future in Circleville.

The reason is that new and simplified regulations of the federal government pertaining to G. I. loans are scheduled to arrive at Circleville banks and lending agencies within the next two weeks.

Bankers said that the original regulations governing G. I. loans were quite complicated and that as a result the negotiation of loans to war veterans was slowed considerably.

Effective March 1
The new regulations become effective March 1 and they will permit a veteran to obtain a four percent loan for 25 years. Such a loan never before was possible, the bankers asserted.

It is probable, however, that full information will not be in the hands of Circleville bankers in time to handle loan applications until some time after March 1.

In connection with home-building plans of war veterans, it was explained, shortages of building materials likely will hamper home construction work for at least six months, and adequate supplies will probably be unavailable for about two years.

New Provisions
Some of the provisions of the amended G. I. loan law are:
The loan application must be acceptable to the lending agency.
Some loans will require a substantial cash deposit.

A bank or other lending agency is not compelled to make a loan.
Any man who served in the armed forces any time after Sept. 16, 1940, and was honorably discharged after at least 90 days of service or by reason of disability incurred in the line of duty will be eligible for a guaranteed G. I. loan.
Only 50 Pct. Guaranteed
Uncle Sam will guarantee G. I. loans but the guarantee cannot exceed 50 per cent of the total amount.

The maximum loan is $4,000 for real estate and $2,000 for non-real estate, but a veteran may make a combined loan.
G. I. loans may be made by any bank, building and loan association, insurance company, credit union, or mortgage loan company.

FOREIGN ASSETS IN U. S. AMOUNT TO 14 BILLIONS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—Foreign countries owned assets in the United States valued at some $14,000,000,000 at the end of 1944, the treasury department reported today.

It added that this represented an increase of approximately $1,250,000,000 over foreign holdings in this country in June, 1941.
The figures did not include gold earmarked for foreign accounts which increased from $1,196,000,000 to $3,937,000,000 during the 3½ year period.

Total foreign deposits in U. S. banks at the end of 1944 amounted to $4,031,000,000, an increase of $373,000,000 from the 1941 level. During the period foreign countries purchased more than $1,250,000,000 of short-term government securities.

SIZE OF FLEET WHICH NAVY HOPES TO MAINTAIN

THIS CHART shows the size of the active Atlantic and Pacific fleets which the Navy hopes to maintain against any emergency. In reserve, but ready for early action would be a total of 171 warships, while an inactive fleet would consist of a total of 687 warships of all types. The Navy's overall personnel strength would be 558,000, exclusive of the Marine Corps. (International)

BROWNELL OUT AS G. O. P. BOSS

Party Chiefs Hunt Successor
As Chairman Resigns
Effective April 1

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—Prominent Republicans both in and out of congress were mentioned today as possible successors to Herbert Brownell, Jr., as chairman of the Republican national committee.

GOP sources reported that Brownell, who took over the chairmanship at the party's 1944 national convention at Chicago, had resigned effective April 1. He was understood to be anxious to devote more time to his law practice in New York.

Quick Action Sought
Republican leaders in congress were eager for speedy action on a successor to prepare the party for the crucial 1946 congressional elections, in which they have high hopes of winning control of the house. Brownell conferred with a group of them here yesterday.

GOP sources said no definite choice had been made but that consideration had been given to Sen. Kenneth Wherry, Neb., Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, Mich., Rep. Charles Halleck, Ind., and Rep. Clarence J. Brown, O. Speculation also touched upon

Salary Basis Likely
It was believed possible that choice of a successor might be accompanied with a GOP decision to put the chairmanship back on a full-time salary basis. The only paid chairman in the recent past was John D. M. Hamilton who served from 1936 to 1940 at $25,000 a year.

Brownell once was offered $50,000 a year but preferred to serve on a part-time, non-salaried basis. Many Republicans still favor the $50,000 figure.

TERMITES Can Be Controlled

Tremendous damage to buildings is caused by termites every year. You can protect your property by using WOODHEALTH. Termites can not live in wood properly protected with WOODHEALTH. In addition to applying WOODHEALTH to vulnerable woods the soil around infested buildings should be treated, as subterranean termites must have regular contact with the soil to live. This is a job you can do yourself easily and inexpensively—full directions are on the label.

WOODHEALTH contains a special blend of approved toxicants for soil treatment.

Other wood destroying insects can be just as easily killed by proper WOODHEALTH treatment.
